

THE MARIAN

Marian High School
Omaha, Nebraska
volume xvi
1974

*I would not exchange
the laughter
of my heart*

for the fortunes of the multitude

nor would I be content with converting my tears

Invited by my agonized self into calm.

It is my fervent hope that my whole life on this earth will ever be tears and laughter

Laughter that brings me closer to my fellow woman.

Tears that purify my heart and reveal to me the secret of life and its mystery, Tears
with which I
join the broken
hearted, Laughter
that symbolizes joy over my existence. An eternal hunger for love and beauty...

*But go instead into the field, and see the infant child
bewitched by the firelight, while the mother is busied*

Be like the bees, and do not waste your spring days gazing on the doings of the eagle. Be like the child rejoicing at the firelight and let the mother abide. All that you see was,
and still is,
yours.

March on. Do not tarry. To move forward is to move toward perfection).

*March on, and fear
not the thorns
of the sharp stones
of Life's path.*

Education gives a man a clear, conscious view of his own opinions and judgments, a truth in developing them, an eloquence in expressing them, and a force in urging them. John Henry Newman

Multi talents staff office

Mailing letters, receiving phone calls, making business transactions are just a few of the jobs undertaken by the administration. These people keep the school running smoothly and cope with all problems that may arise.

Connie Sundell and Mary Kay Kruse assist by typing, filing, making phone calls, and other miscellaneous jobs. Managing the finances is Sister Amadeus Travis. Promotion of the school falls upon the shoulders of Mrs. Kathy Kelley, who contacts city newspapers concerning major Marian functions.

Sr. Adolorata Watson together with Sr. Terese Lux share the pressures of principal. Sr. Terese checks attendance and offers counseling to students who seek help. Engineering this team is the job of Sr. Adolorata.

Besides their administrative positions, Sr. Adolorata and Sr. Terese teach classes and moderate clubs. Major British Writers is Sr. Adolorata's lone course. Again this year she exposed the Literary Explorers to fine literature. Sr. Terese instructed Biology II, as well as moderating Future Medical Assistants.

Sister Adolorata Watson, busy at one of her tasks.

Mrs. Kathy Kelley, Public Relations, BA at the University of Minnesota.

Sister Amadeus Travis refused to uncover degrees except under subpoena.

Sister Terese Lux, MA at Detroit University.

Sister Charline Sutherland
BA from Duchesne.

Sister Margaret Mary Peterson, or Sister Midge
BA from Duchesne, also attended Mudeline College.

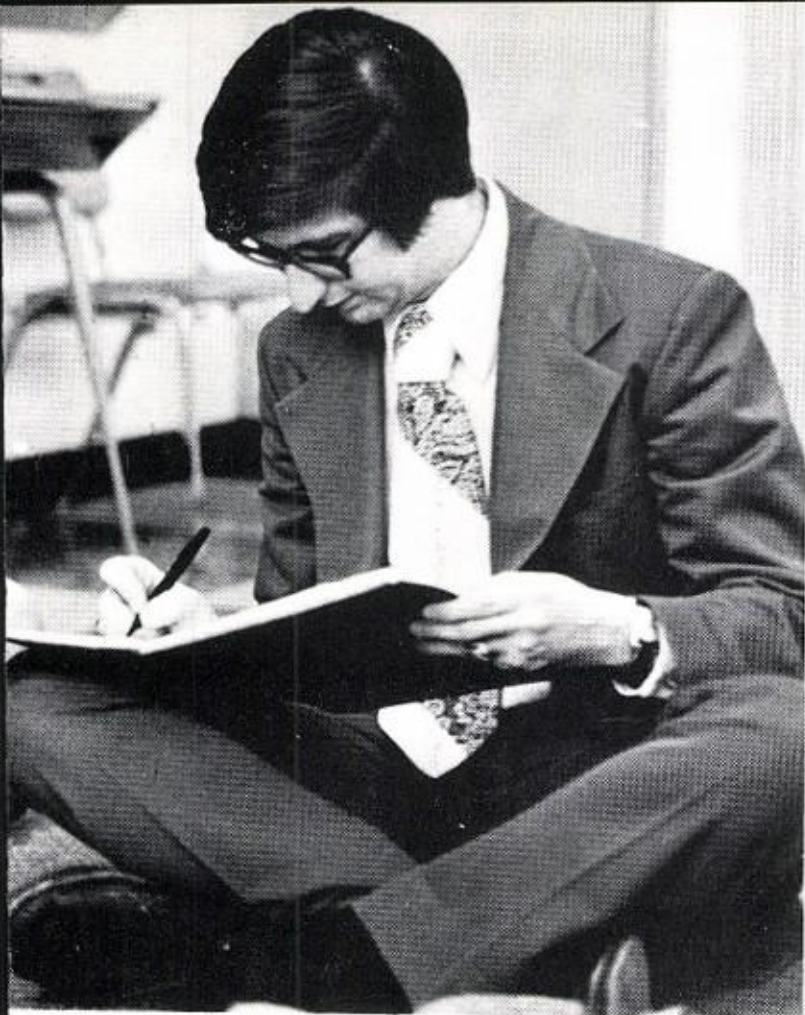

Religion topics open new doors

The Religion Department underwent three major alterations this year. Under the guidance of Sr. Charline Sutherland, religion was transformed from a definite topic, four year class to an elective-type one semester class. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors chose two classes that they thought would interest them, that they would benefit from, or teachers that they could relate to.

The semester courses gave students the opportunity to study more aspects of religion. Since all but the marriage courses were open to students in the three grades, classes became enlivened. Not only did this give us a greater awareness of others, but it helped to build school unity and spirit.

In following course example, retreats also broke away from the set classes. Sr. Joyce Rupp set up retreats at various locations as an inter-school activity. A lot of good experiences were had during these mini station breaks. Retreats were generally overnights, where they started at night and lasted through the next day. Students brought their own food on most of them, although a few community suppers were served.

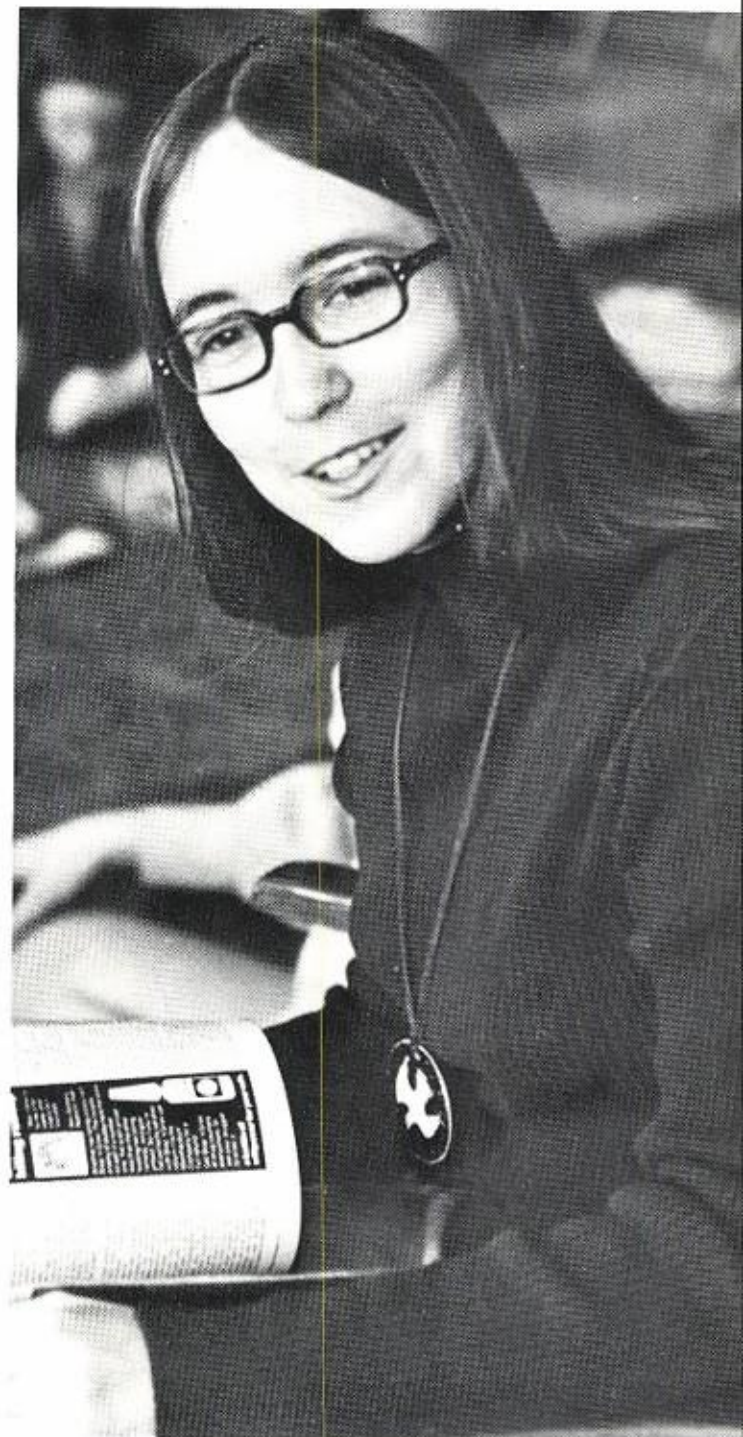

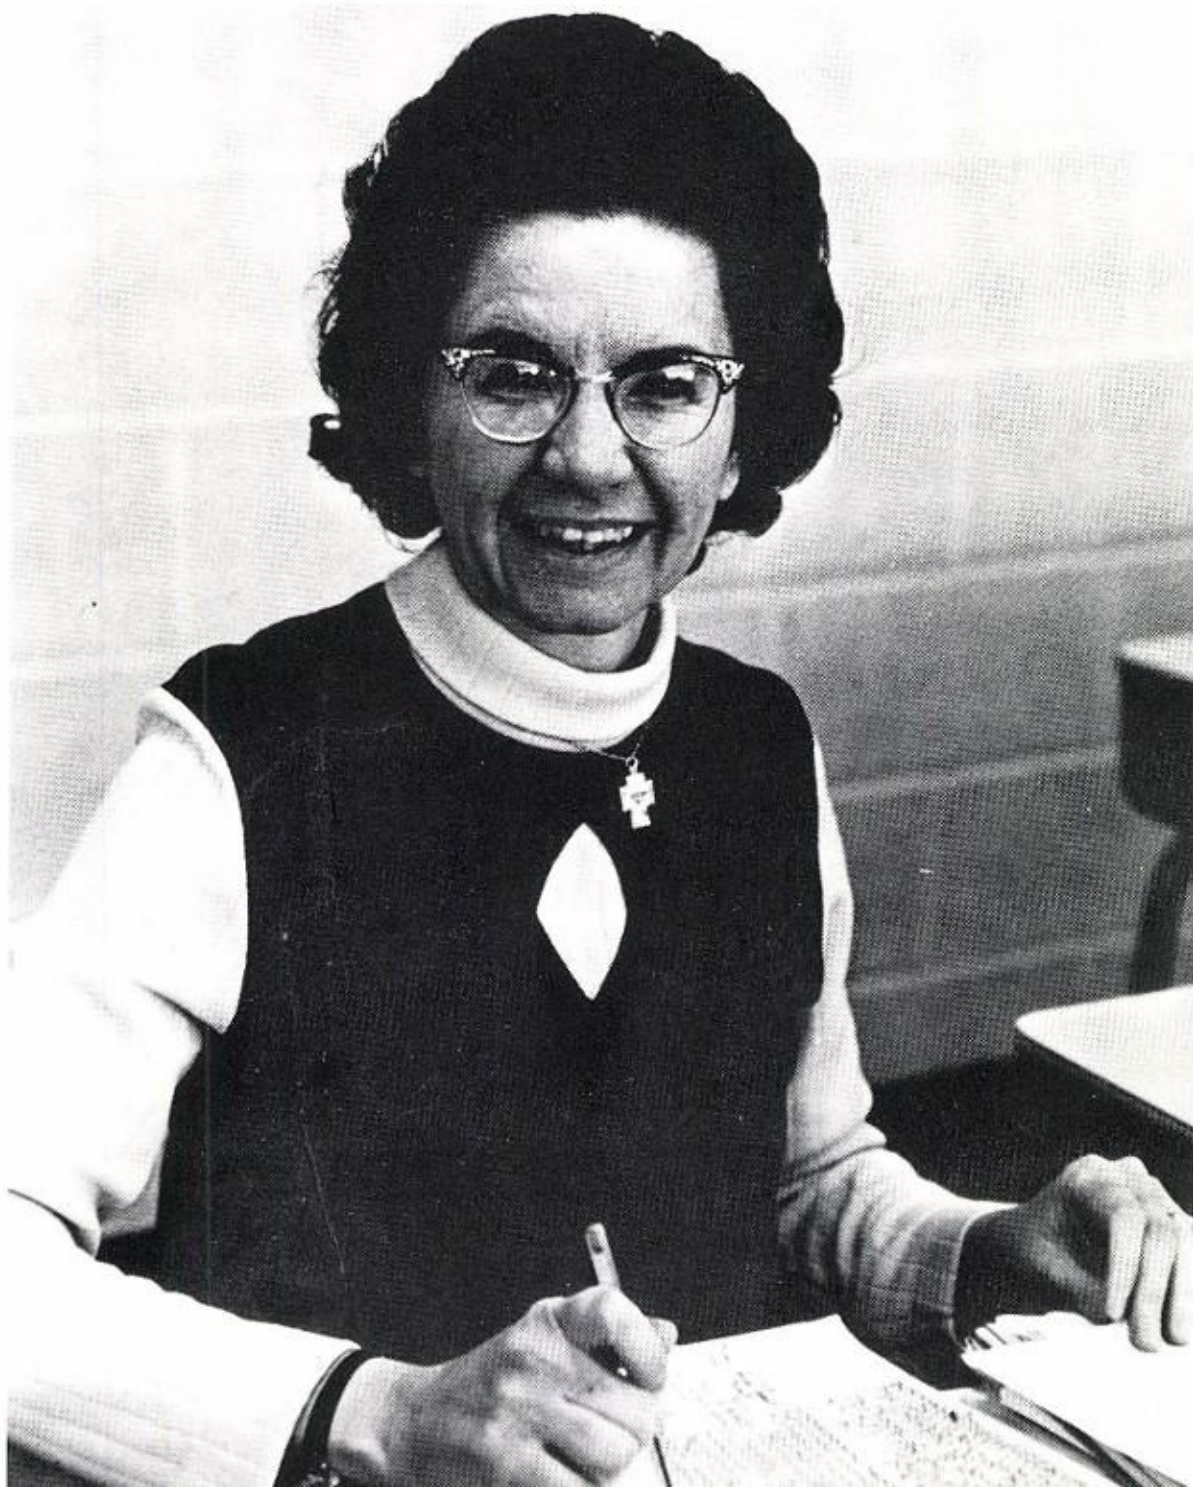

Retreats offer variety in life

Each religion teacher has different topics and different ways of delivering them. Mr. Robert McBride heads classes in The Church and Why Belong To It, Religious Experience, and Listen Christian; all related in that they bring the individual closer to God, and separate in the way of experiences. Sister Doris Doyle introduces new found facets in the faith by leading subjects such as Man's Search for God, God... Is He or Isn't He?, Jesus According to John, The Community Called Church. Rounding off for the whole person Sr. Doris also discusses the inner person through Understanding Ourselves as Sexual People, and the Marriage Course. Sister Jan Boucher's Symbols and Stories brings God out in everyday poems etc. with her Comparative Religions. Breaking into the moral aspects of students, Sr. Jan also teaches What to do on a Friday Night and I Love You-Is That OK? The head of the Religion Department, Sister Charline has other aspirations for her students, Playing and Praying, Not to Decide Is to Decide, Philosophy and Psychotheology.

Mr. Bob McBride, BS at University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Sister Jan Bucher, right, BA from Duchesne College.

Sister Doris Doyle, MS from Creighton.

Ms. Eileen Eagen, BA and MA from Creighton University.

Mrs. Charlene Brown, right, BA at Creighton University.

Sister Mercedes Rapp, BA at St. Rose College, N.Y.

Mrs. Mary Westbrook, BS from University of Nebraska at Omaha.

English came one step closer to an elective this year. Even though an English course is still required, juniors and seniors had their choice of classes. Some of the advantages were greater student interest, better class participation, possible background for college studies, and last but not least, not having a computer match you up with an incompatible teacher.

There was the conventional non-graded course, taught by Sr. Virginia Silvestri. For the less devoted students, Contemporary World Novel, Shakespeare, Overview/Fiction, English Skills/American Literature, and World Literature existed.

Ms. Eileen Eagen instructed Creative Writing, and supervised the creation of "Ouch!". Themes in Film and Lit is a dramatic new course also taught by Ms. Eagen, where themes of various movies are analyzed. Both of these courses are semester electives.

Course options pep up English

Major British Writers was the only class Sr. Adolorata Watson had time to enjoy. Mrs. Charlene Brown was our faithful journalism adviser. She also taught Overview/Fiction and World Literature. Business English and Modern English were Miss Mary Westbrook's contribution to the English Department. Masters of American Literature was the standard sophomore course, which was taught by Sr. Carmelita Edney and Miss Westbrook. The instructors of English Nine, the freshman course, were Miss Connie Cavel, Mrs. Kathy McPherson, and Sr. Mercedes Rapp. Sr. Virginia also teaches Shakespeare.

Miss Connie Cavel, left, has a BA from Creighton University.

Sister Virginia Silvestri, above, received a BA at Duchesne College.

Sister Carmelita Edney has an MA from Creighton University in English French, and Latin. Above, Mari Giles relaxes in the English Resource Center.

The fine life comes to frosh

The Music, Art, and Drama Departments combined to produce a freshman course entitled Introduction to Fine Arts. The primary purpose of the class was to give students a basic background of the liberal arts.

The materials are presented chronologically in the three different areas. In the visual arts, the students were lectured and shown slides. The following class then imitate that period in time by creating such works as rock painting, Stain glass windows, mosaics, origami, and soap sculptures.

In music, students learn the basics, fundamentals, and how to read sheet music. They also study the history of different types of music. In drama, students learn the techniques and history of acting. The course was designed to promote further interest in artistic areas.

Mrs. Pat Culver, BS at University of Nebraska.

Sister Sharon Jordan, MA University of Nebraska.

Mrs. Kathy McPherson, BA at Hillsdale College, Mich.

Ms. Eileen Eagan, during Debate activities. She has her MA from Creighton University in English.

Orators attack poverty issue

Discussions on the quality of life and on major national and international problems teach debators perhaps one of the highest academic processes—the ability to think incisively. Though debate class is part of the academic schedule at Marian, much of the debator's time is spent participating in almost weekly speech and debate tournaments. Much time is also devoted to developing cases and evidence to uphold either side of a given resolution. Because of these facts, debate is one of the most time-consuming, yet rewarding, activities at Marian.

Itch to write causes 'Ouch'

Creative Writing class is probably best personified by the caricature of Rodin's "Thinker" on the cover of their publication entitled 'Ouch!' The creative writing process, like any artistic endeavor, is a difficult one. Students write in the genre in which they are most comfortable. The major emphasis in such a learning situation is on the communication of fresh ideas in a new and interesting manner.

Drama defined

Mrs. Pat Culver, BS received from UNL.

The Drama Department was very successful in the production of "Finian's Rainbow". Aside from the annual play; classes also act out scenes from Greek tragedy and comedies, Shakespeare, and modern plays. Studying the history of drama, theatre, and pantomime was also part of the course.

Mrs. Pat Culver also teaches speech. Speeches vary from types to inform, persuade, and entertain. Stories and poems are animated during oral interpretation.

Sister Pat Kowalski received a BA in English and an MA in Communication Arts at Stanford University, Cal.

Lights, Action!

A course of fast growing popularity is Film and TV, instructed by Sister Pat Kowalski. The students learned techniques of directing and creating a movie, as well as having a lot of fun.

Part of the course were exercises in handling the camera, splicing, shooting a movie on techniques, and learning to operate the AV equipment properly.

The Film and TV class planned to debut their creations at the end of the year. Donations from the shows are used to finance the equipment used in the course.

Sister Dorothea Foley, right, earned her BS attending Creighton University.

Sister Pat Haezebrouck received her BA degree from Duchense College.

Year sewn up in clothing

Accenting creative talents in Marian's curriculum is clothing class. Novice seamstresses found in Clothing I began learning the basics, while eagerly constructing their first project, an apron. The more advanced classes flaunted their taste and creativity, producing items such as baby clothes, lined jackets, and pantsuits. Students are graded on how well the outfits are constructed. The clothing room window became a favorite loitering spot throughout the year, where fashions could be found. All projects finished are displayed there.

Mrs. Mary Westbrook taught Family Living and English. She received her BA from University of Nebraska here.

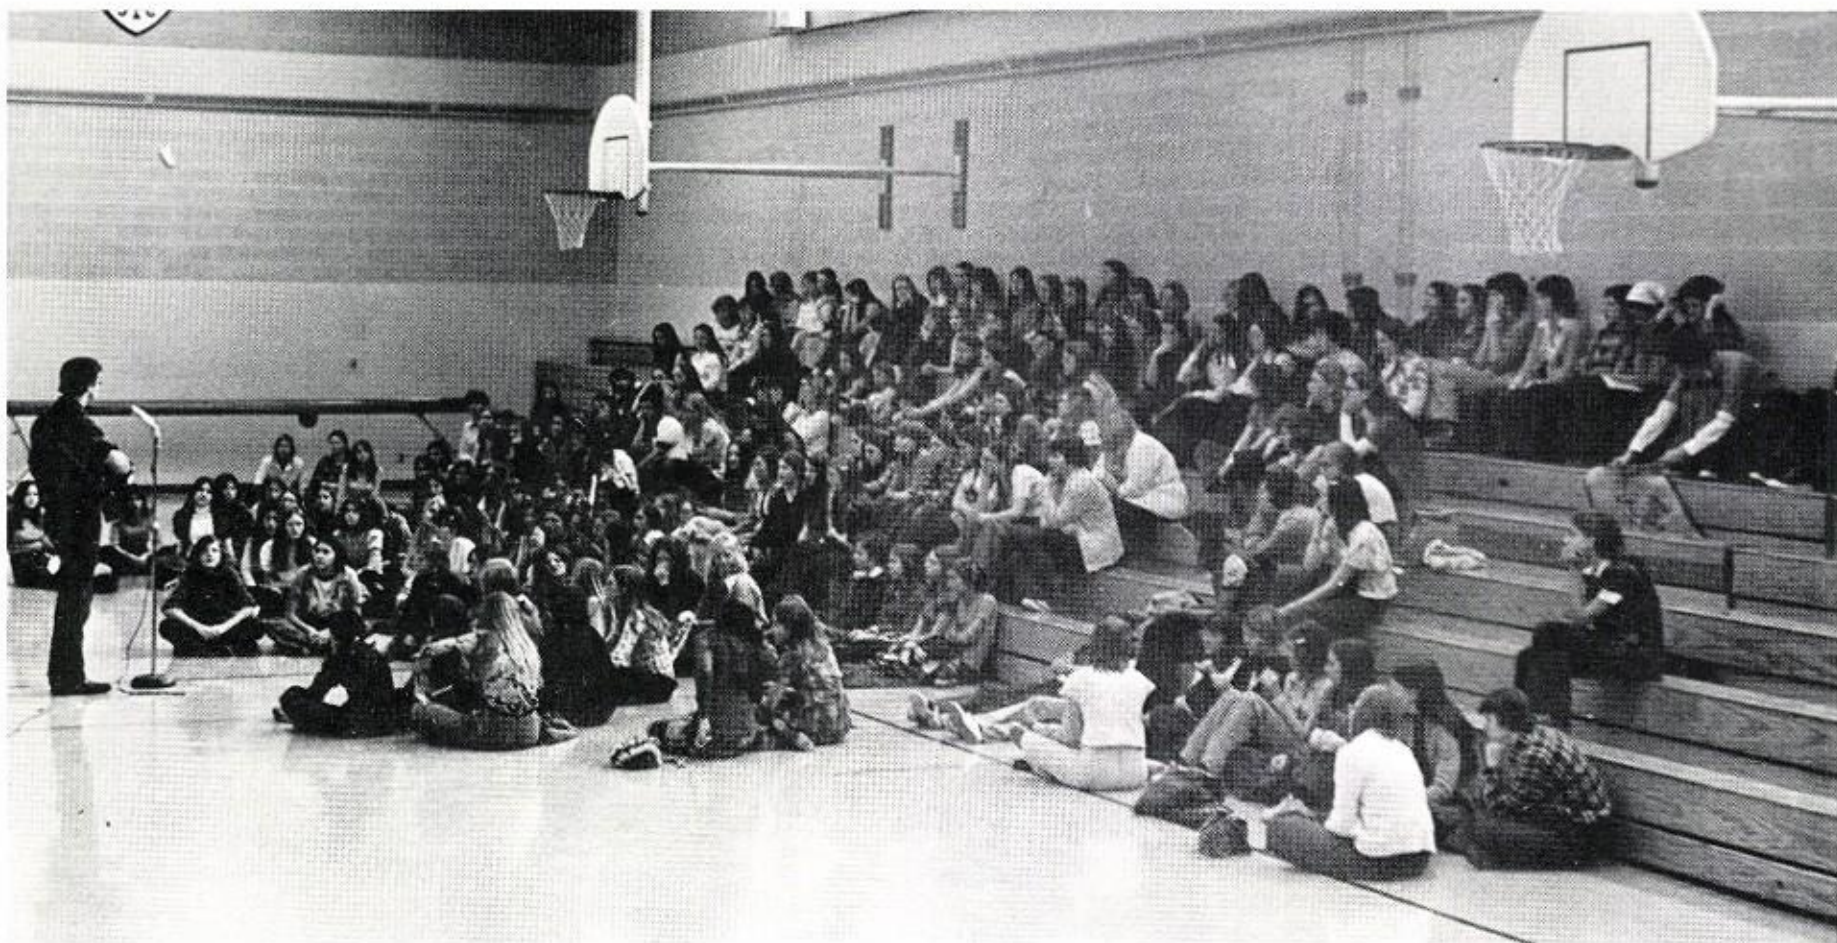

Family studied

Family Living is a course offered for students interested in gaining knowledge in such fields as nutrition, home management, how to establish an effective budget, correcting and enlivening your personality, and food purchasing.

Children of several age groups found themselves to be "guinea pigs" for students in Family Living. The behavior of the children steadily was observed and recorded. Speakers were offered for the group to clear up questions and misconceptions raised by the experiment.

The course, handled by a new face, Mrs. Mary Westbrook, brings outside "home-economics" by digging deeper into the finance and the actual transactions going on within a usual home. Community actions are also analyzed and decisions are made on how to handle them. Duties, responsibilities, and other obligations are also looked into.

Band jazzes up halls of Marian Christmas caroling in the downtown and Eighth Grade Night kept the freshmen busy singing this year. Practice sessions for the 213 girls were during class periods and Semi-week.

Sr. Sharon Jordan provided the chance for the students to learn how to play guitar and piano, by offering lessons during convenient times. The main reason for interest by the girls is personal enjoyment and background. Approximately thirty-one girls took advantage of these private lessons.

Offered for the first time in Marian history is band. Meeting twice a week, the girls work up ensembles, playing all types of music- popular, marches, jazz, etc. Many of the students had no previous experience, but their first performance at Open House proved them to be fine musicians. Carol Lenz is the director.

Sister Callista McNamara received her BS degree at Sienna Heights and later went on to earn her MA at Chicago Musical in Illinois.

Choir is growing

Sister Mary Callista McNamara has used her talents to develop the Concert Choir into what we know today. The Concert Choir was formally introduced in 1970, until then Sr. Callista was known as an upper level chorus teacher. When 1970 came the Choir was ready to show the school the work that went into being a singer. Christmas came and with it the Christmas cantata.

The advanced chorus, an exclusive sophomore group, combined talents with the Concert Choir in performances before senior citizens, nursing homes, and numerous club functions in town. An innovative Christmas program was presented to the entire student body this year. The program featured all of the singing groups in the school. Dancers silhouetted the music, which told the story of Christmas. The choir sported a new look on WOW TV wearing blue floor length gowns as they sang excerpts from the "Christmas Festival."

Groups were selected to compete in the annual District contests held in Blair during April. Several a capella numbers and four part chorus selections were sung.

Sports toughen flabby muscles

Miss Barbara Bartholet earned her Bachelor of Arts degree at Wayne State College, Nebraska, majoring in Physical Education.

Physical Education is a course full of variety. Activities range from basic exercise to skilled routines on the balance beam. Volleyball, basketball, tumbling, bowling, and archery were enjoyed throughout the year. Even tag football was played on wheeled scooters.

But gym is not all fun and games. Written tests are given on game rules and techniques by Miss Barbara Bartholet. Senior Physical Education students assist in the instruction of the younger students.

Sister Joan Houtekier has a BA from Duchesne College.

Mrs. Deanie Sullivan earned a BA from Siena Heights.

Classes study nature, pigs

Biology became more than a requirement to graduate. Classes made nature trips on the school grounds, exploring the lake, orchard, and pasture. There were independent study chapters, movies, projects, and experiments also. This class opens up interests to future science courses.

Chemistry developed a sense of observation and description, and explained the behavior of various substances. Biology II utilized fetal pigs and sheep's brain to study the function of organs and organisms.

Mrs. Sullivan has a MNS from University of S. Dakota. Her major was chemistry, with a minors including math and biology.

Language cultures minds

There was no lack of experiencing different cultures in the Language Department. French students enjoyed their traditional journey to the "French Cafe", while Latin students absorbed classical literature of their ancestors.

The department also gained a new resource center. PEANUTS, printed in French and Spanish, popular foreign records, books on foreign culture and lifestyle, French and Spanish magazines, and European toys, dolls, and utensils can be found there.

An excursion to Europe was planned during mini-week by Mrs. Carmen Novoa. It was cancelled because of monetary problems, and lack of student participation. Sr. Carmelita Edney teaches French I, while Sr. Rosaria Edney has Latin. Mrs. Novoa teaches French I and Spanish. Miss Denise Arnold teaches French I, II, and III.

Mrs. Denise Arnold, BS from University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Miss Ophelia Maniquis, BS at Colegio de San Juan de Letran AB from Spanish Institute at Manila. MS from UNO.

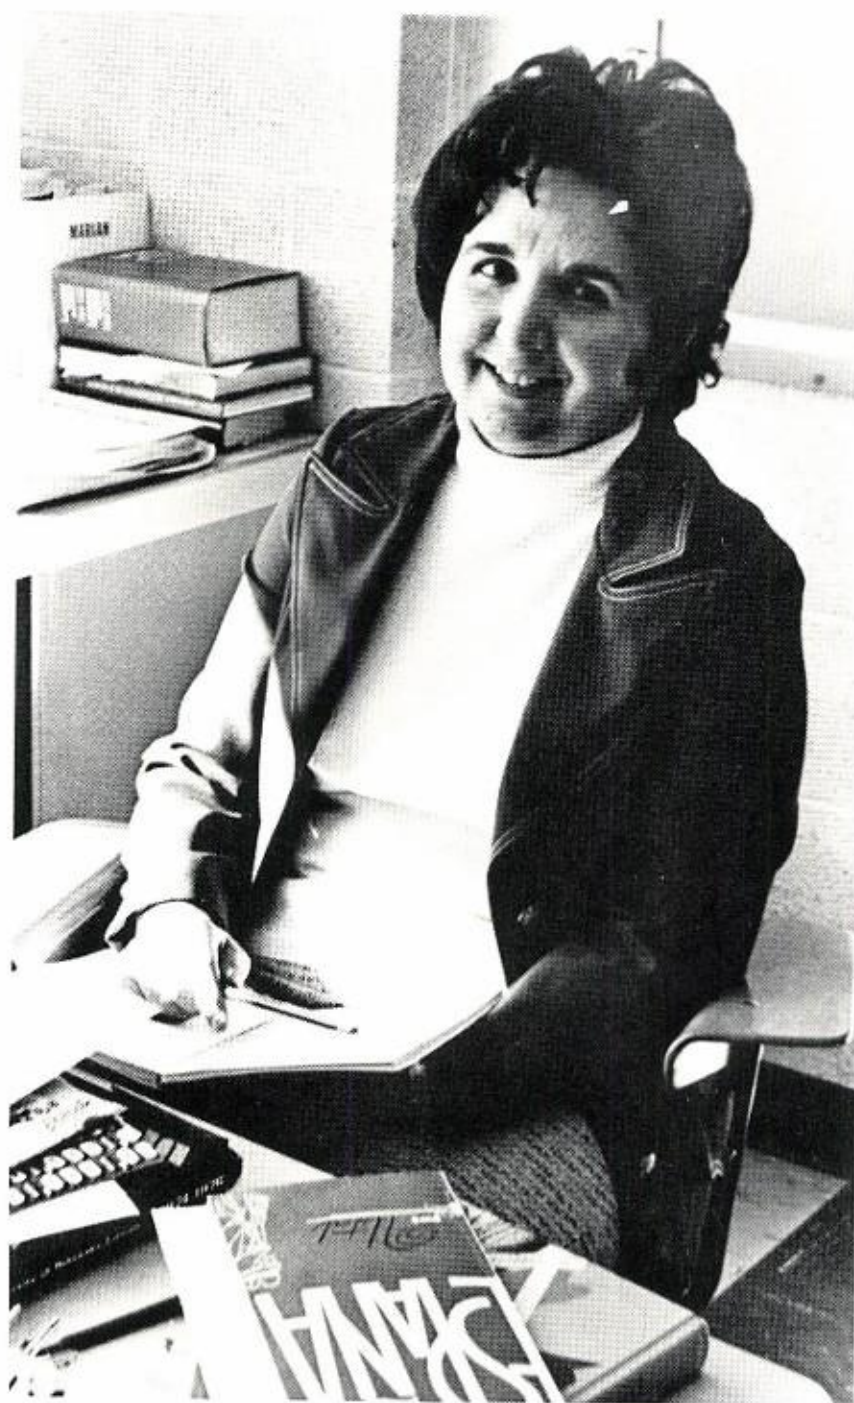

Mrs. Carmen Novoa, BA at Duchesne.

Sister Rosaria Edney received her BS from Creighton, and earned a degree of MSLS from Rosary College in Chicago.

Sister Carmelita Edney has a Bachelor of Arts Degree and a Master of Arts that she earned from Creighton University.

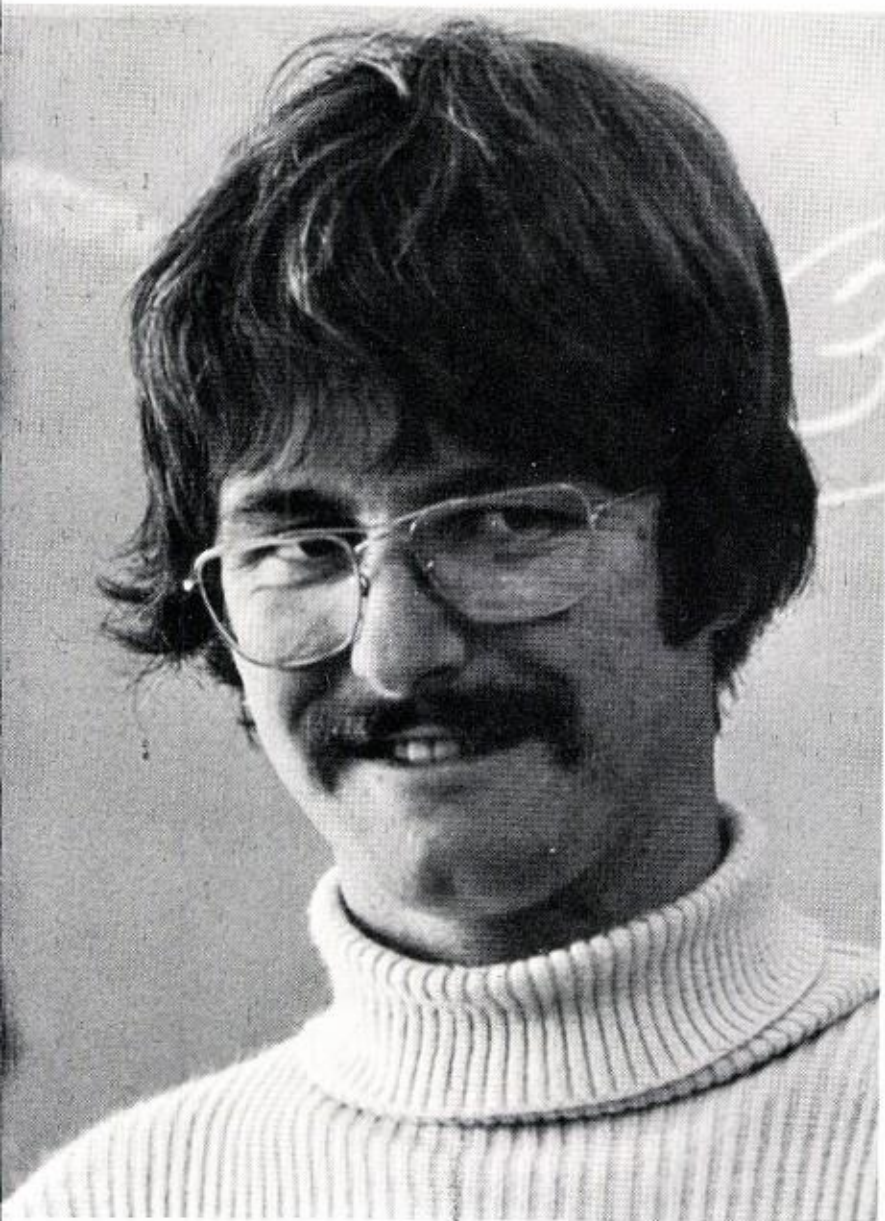

Mrs. Carol Gosney took over for Mrs. Ann Schluter; who is now the proud mother of Curtis. Mrs. Gosney received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the college of Saint Mary in Omaha.

Mrs. Ann Schluter received her BA from the State College of Iowa and Cedar Falls.

Mr. Jim Duggins received a BS at University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Mr. Mike Sporcic earned his BA at UNO and a MA at Creighton U.

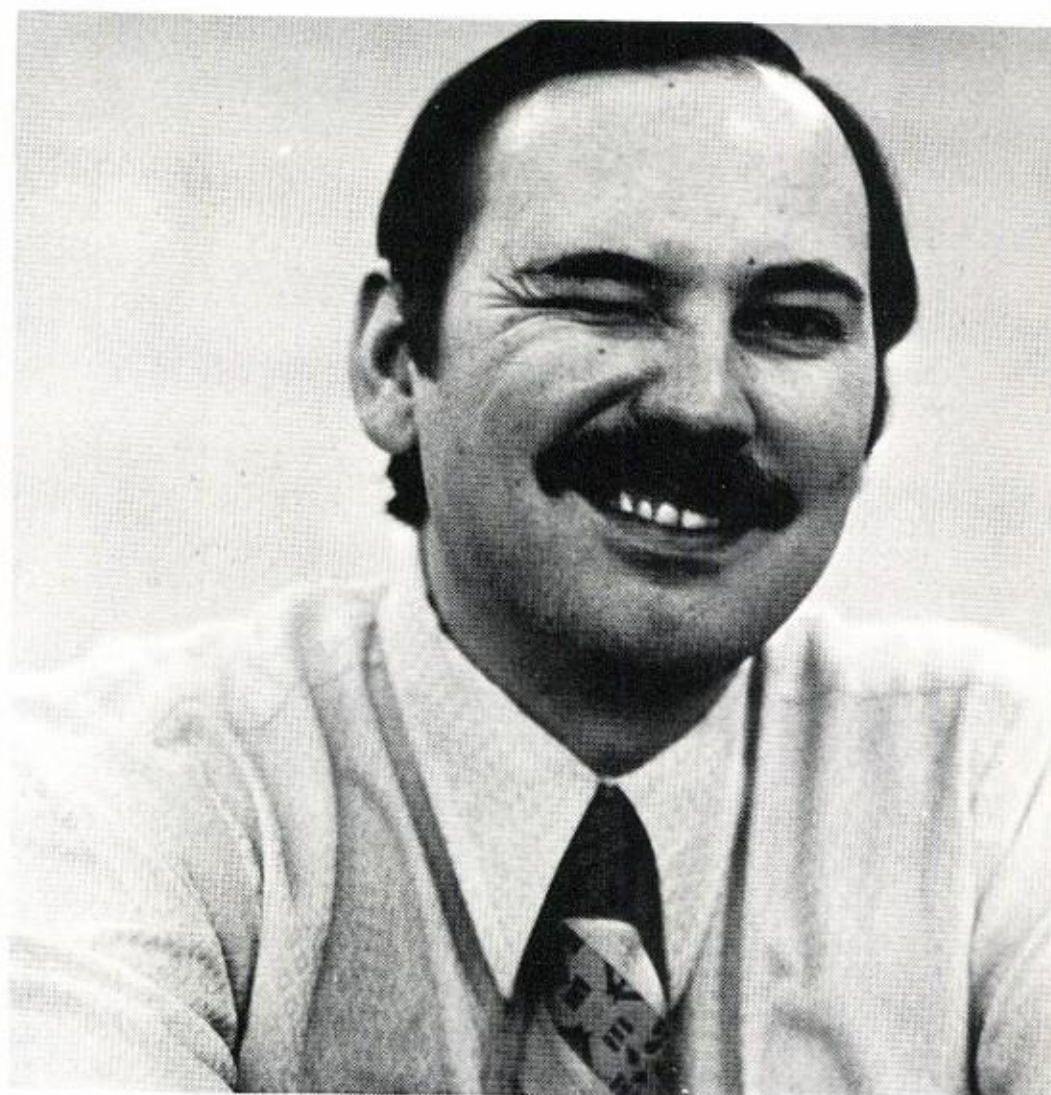

Mr. Michael Schadendorf earned both BA and MA Degrees at Creighton

Classes find social cures

World Cultures and World Geography teacher Mr. Mike Schadendorf heads an expanding Social Studies Department.

A psychology course, taught by Mr. Mike Sporcic studies the realm of human behavior. American government remains a Marian graduation requirement. Mr. Jim Duggins attacked such topics as Women's Lib, abortion, and legalization of marijuana in his first year of teaching American Studies.

World Geography teacher, Mrs. Ann Schluter left at the semester to have a baby and was replaced by Mrs. Carol Gossney. Sister Evelyn Barbara builds the framework for social action in her sociology course.

Tan 2 cos 3- cos 7 tan 2=?

Individuality and working at one's own pace has been the goal of the Math Department, and so far this goal has been achieved. Throughout the day the math resource center is open and constant help is available to those who desire it. Math teachers plan their classes in a way that every student can achieve the same amount of study, but at a slower or faster pace, fitting the student. Algebra I, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, and Analysis attest to the Math Department's well known success. Students find themselves appearing in the math contests that take place every year. Due to the unsurpassable ability of the staff members, the girls usually rank high.

Between Algebra's "x"s and "y"s, Geometry's "p"s and "q"s, and Analysis's tangents and cosines, the students are totally prepared for anything in the future.

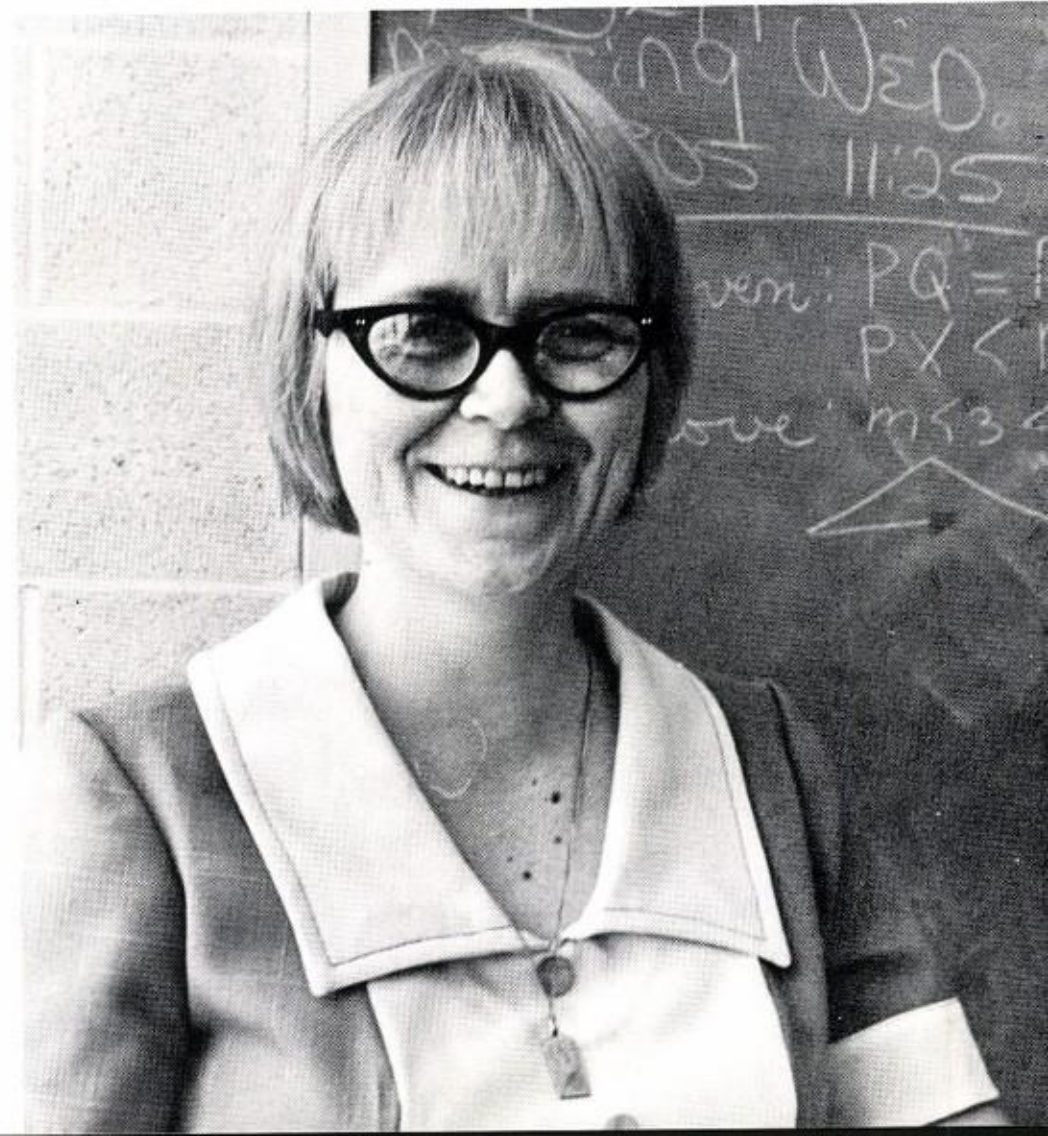

Mrs. Rae Keogh received her BA at Vassar College.

Sister Zita Sharrow, MA from Bowdoin College, Me.

Sister Paulette Labbe, BA from Duchesne College, MA at Detroit University.

Sister Jean Ann Morrow, BA earned at Duchesne College, MA at University of Detroit.

Skills built for jobs

Girls planning to enter the business world build a solid background of experience at Marian. There is ample opportunity to improve skills in filing, dictation, shorthand, and typing. There are also courses in accounting, record keeping, and business law.

Miss Barbara Riva teaches Shorthand, Secretarial Practice, and Type I. Mrs. Dorothy Dietz instructs Type II, Accounting, Record Keeping, Business Law, and Office Practice. Sr. Evelyn Barbara Marshallak teaches General Business.

For the first year, there is a Personal Type course for college prep students. It is a one semester class teaching the basics of typing.

Sr. Evelyn Barbara Marshallak, top, BA from St. Rose, NY, MA from Creighton University. Miss Barbara Riva, above, BS from UNO, Associate Degrees in Secretarial Sciences. Mrs. Dorothy Dietz received a BSC from Creighton University.

Guidance staff grows by two

Mrs. Sharon Ballenger, career guidance counselor has many hours occupied sending transcripts, receiving college entrance materials, and explaining application and registration procedures.

Sr. Judith aids Sr. Terese in the main task of counseling. They team up to tackle personal problems as well as scheduling difficulties.

Sr. Joyce organized the many enriching and successful retreats, as well as informing students and counseling on vocational interests.

Mrs. Ballenger explains the red tape of College registration to Tammie Edgerton.

Sr. Judith Mulcahy, above, and Sr. Joyce Rupp display their welcoming smiles for the photographer.

Students tutored, proctored by trio

Sr. Beatrice was known in the Study Halls for keeping order as well as helping underclassmen with their studies.

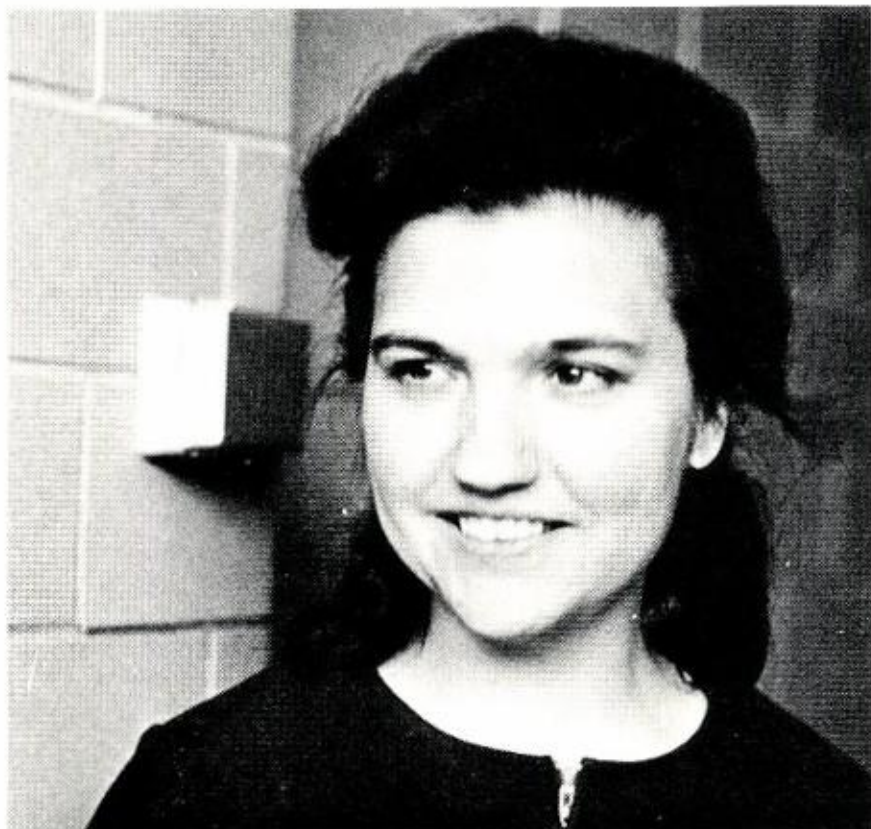

Sr. Paula aided in the filing of student's records in the counseling offices in addition to proctoring the English Resource Center.

Sr. Evangelista was kept busy being a comfort to the ailing students in the Health Room, and the studious students in the Library.

Sr. Beatrice, above; Sr. Paula, right; and Sr. Evangelista, below enjoy their day as well as adding enjoyment to other's.

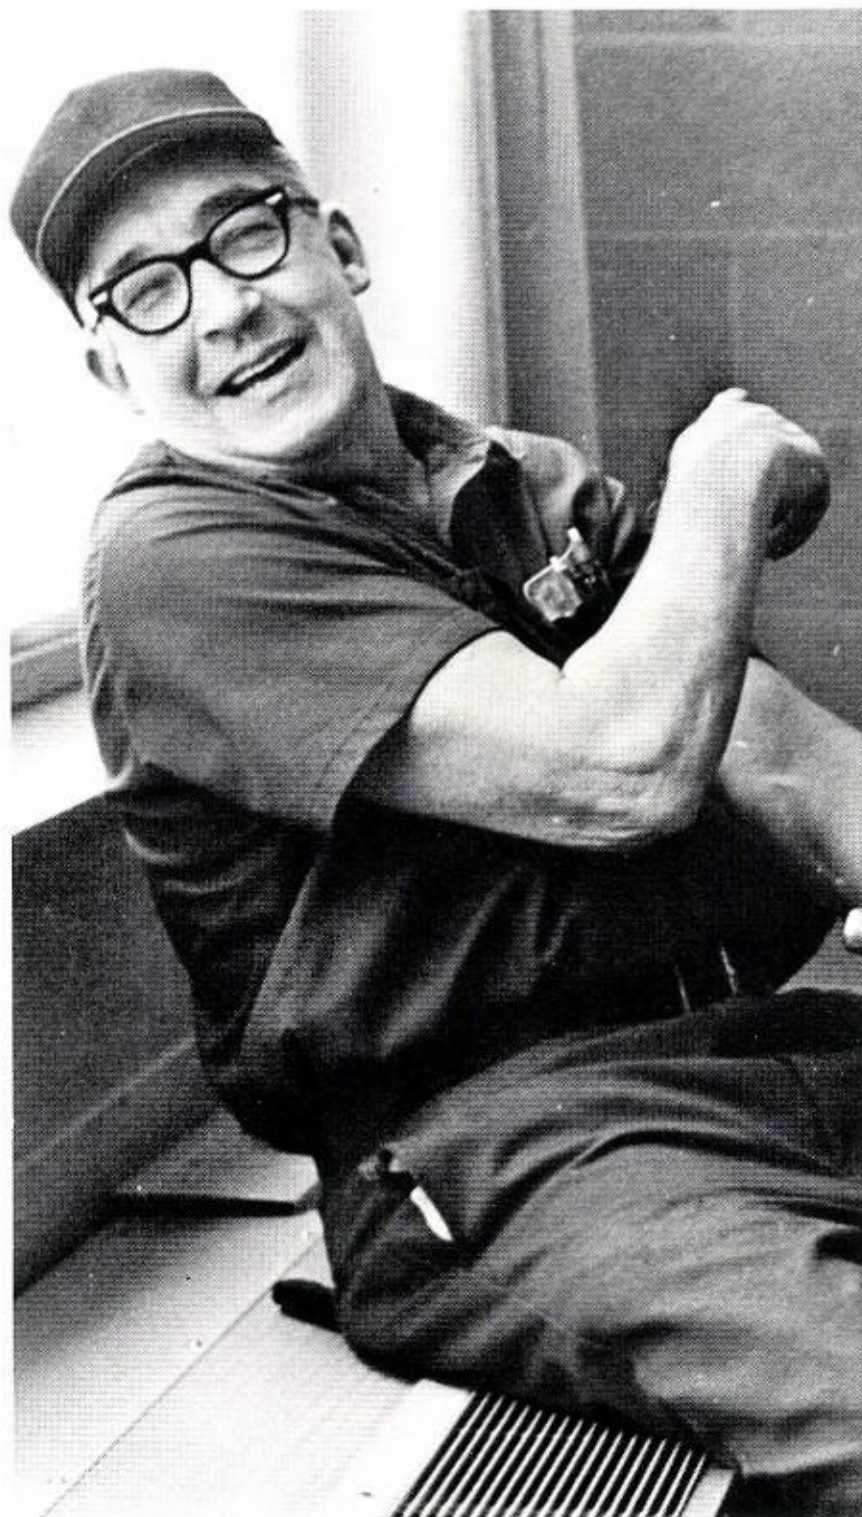

Mr. Cook, Mrs. Ruyle, and Mrs. Falcone have become popular personalities around Marian. Each one adds an individual touch to his job.

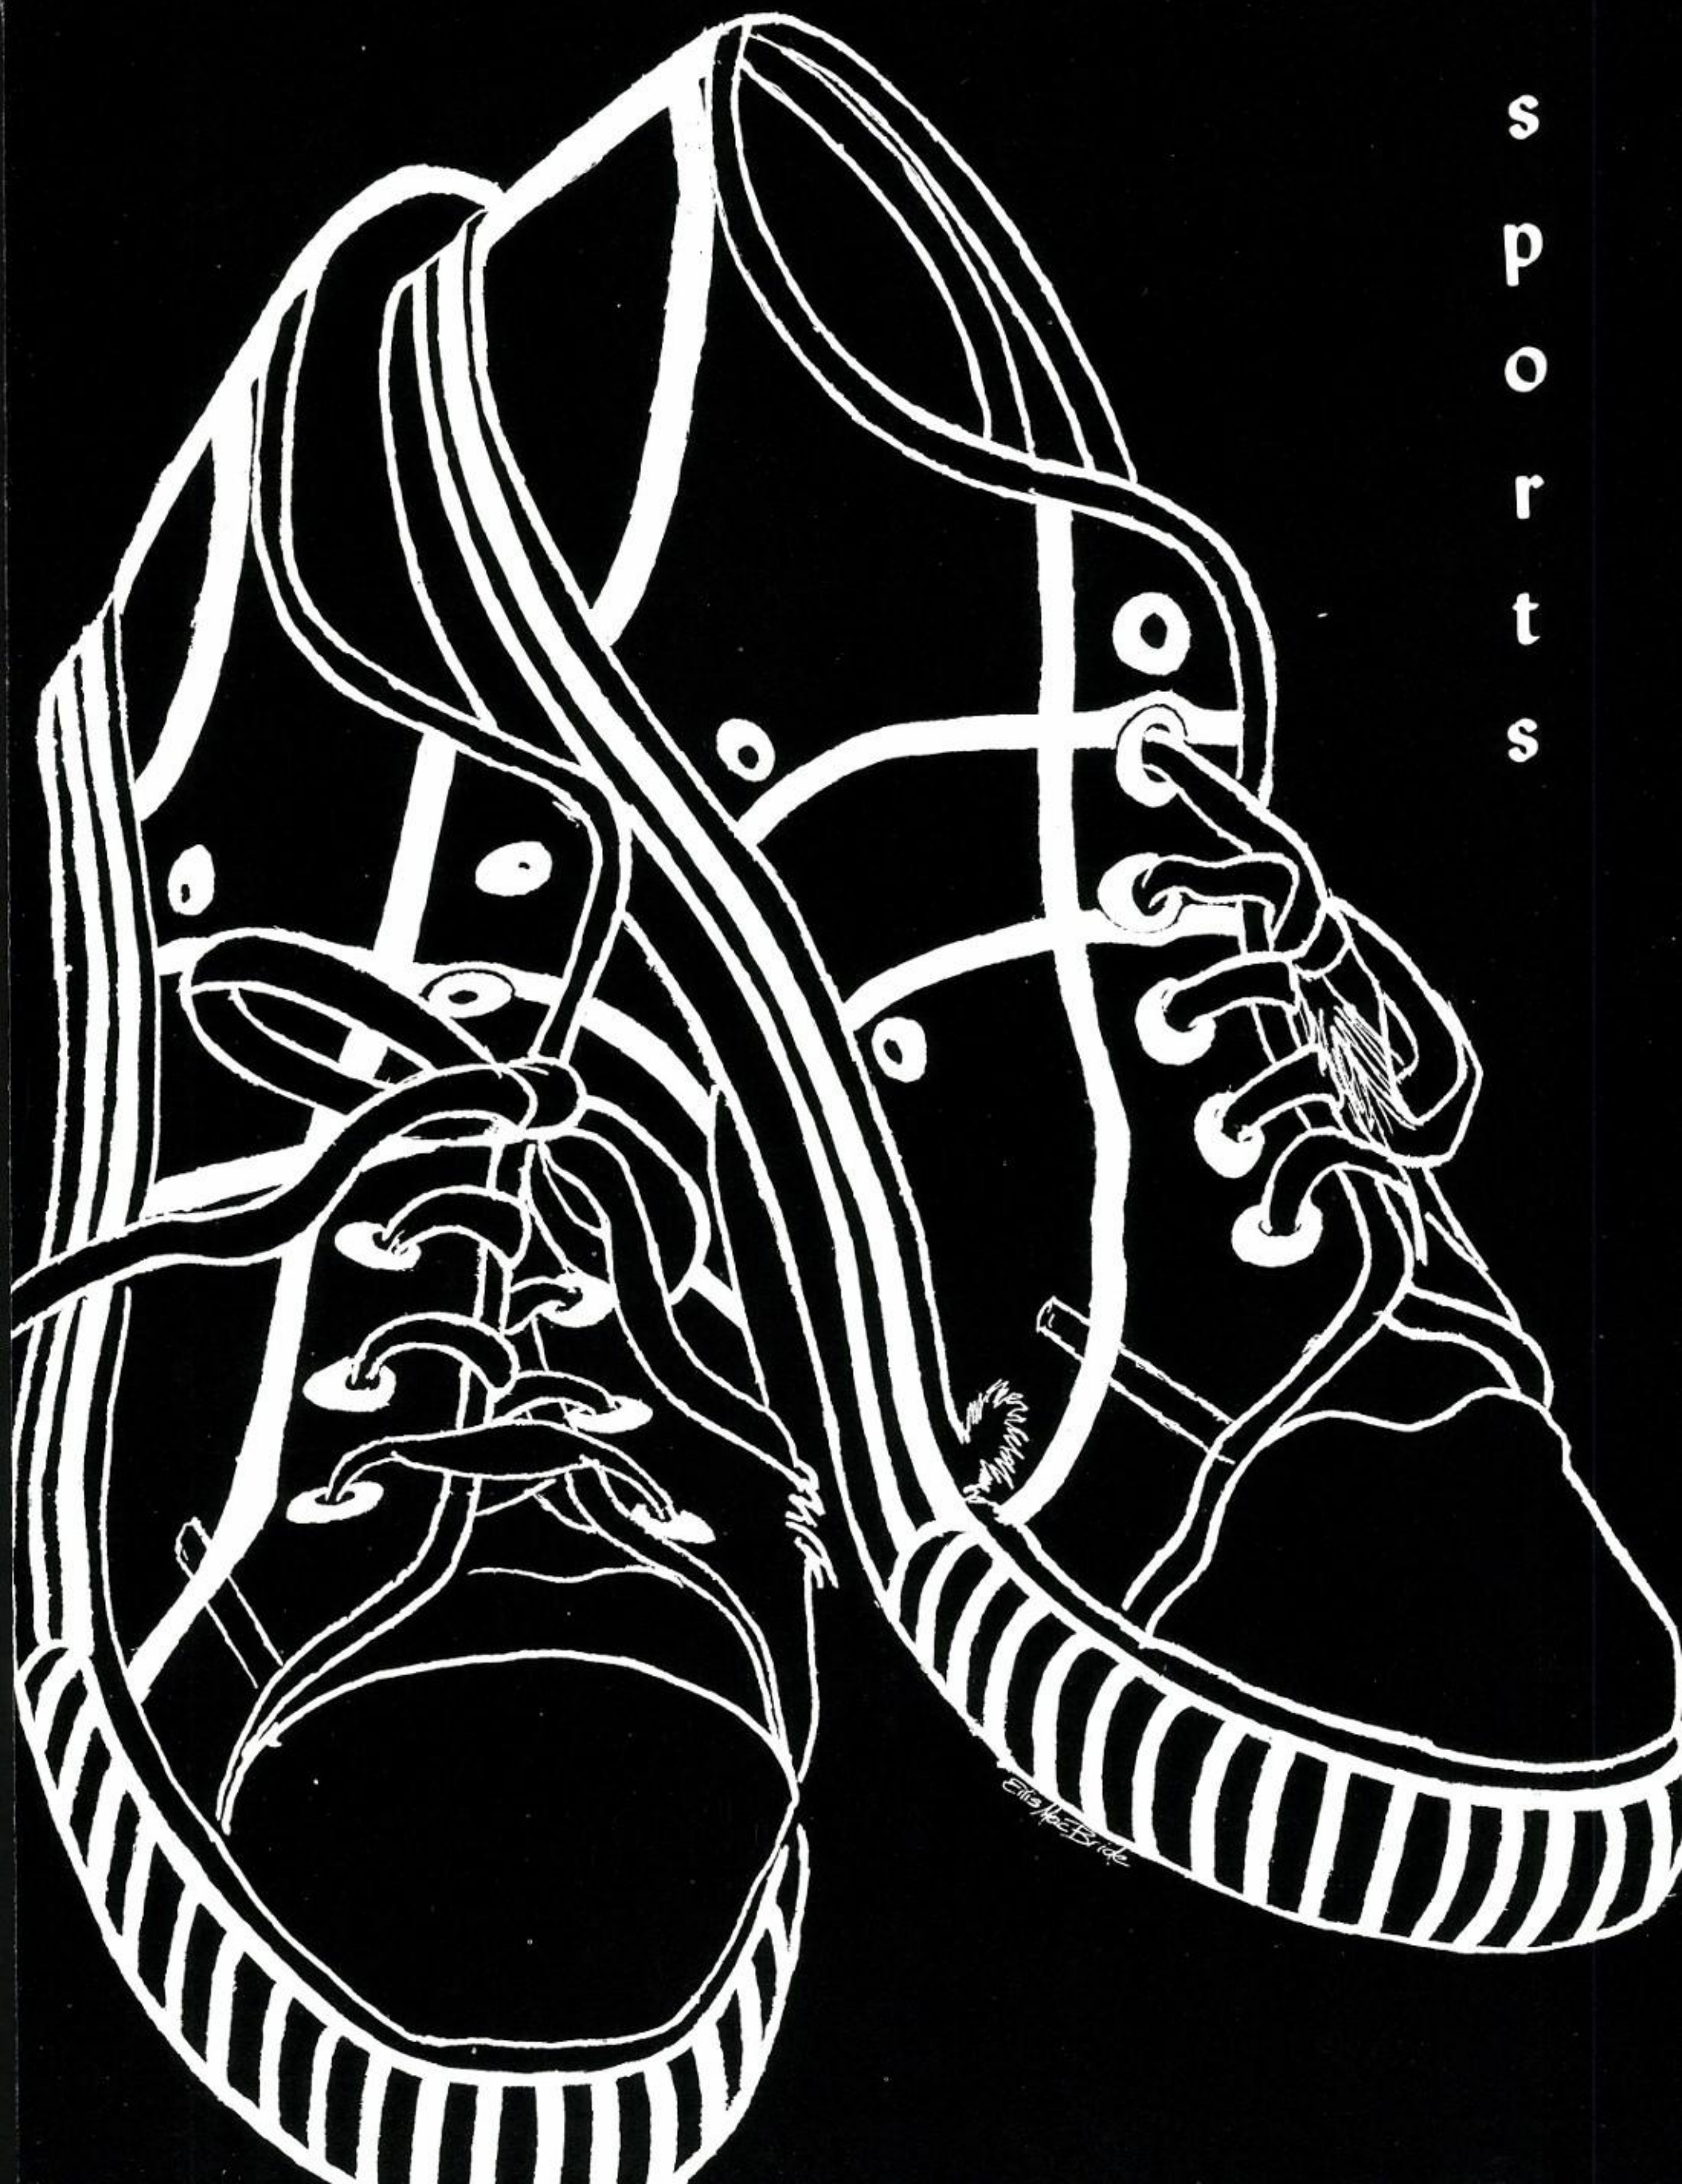

Trio lends smiles

Mr. Warren Cook, Maintenance Engineer, sounds too serious for the jovial fellow encountered en route to and from classes. A new face often seen aiding in the cleaning was Mrs. Margaret Ruyle.

Mrs. Carmelita Falcone was with us again this year. She is responsible for the hot lunch program; working the menu around the vending machine's array of food.

Swimmers take State

The Marian swimmers repeated their state victory performance this year under Coach, Lynn Groff, by defeating Westside by three points. Practices began the last weeks of summer and continued into the first week of November. They were held before school from 6:15 to 7:00 a.m. at the West Branch YMCA and consisted of 2500-3000 yards of swimming. The thirteen member team competed in five local meets without a loss and in two invitational meets at Westside and one in Des Moines, Iowa. Cassie Strom served as team captain.

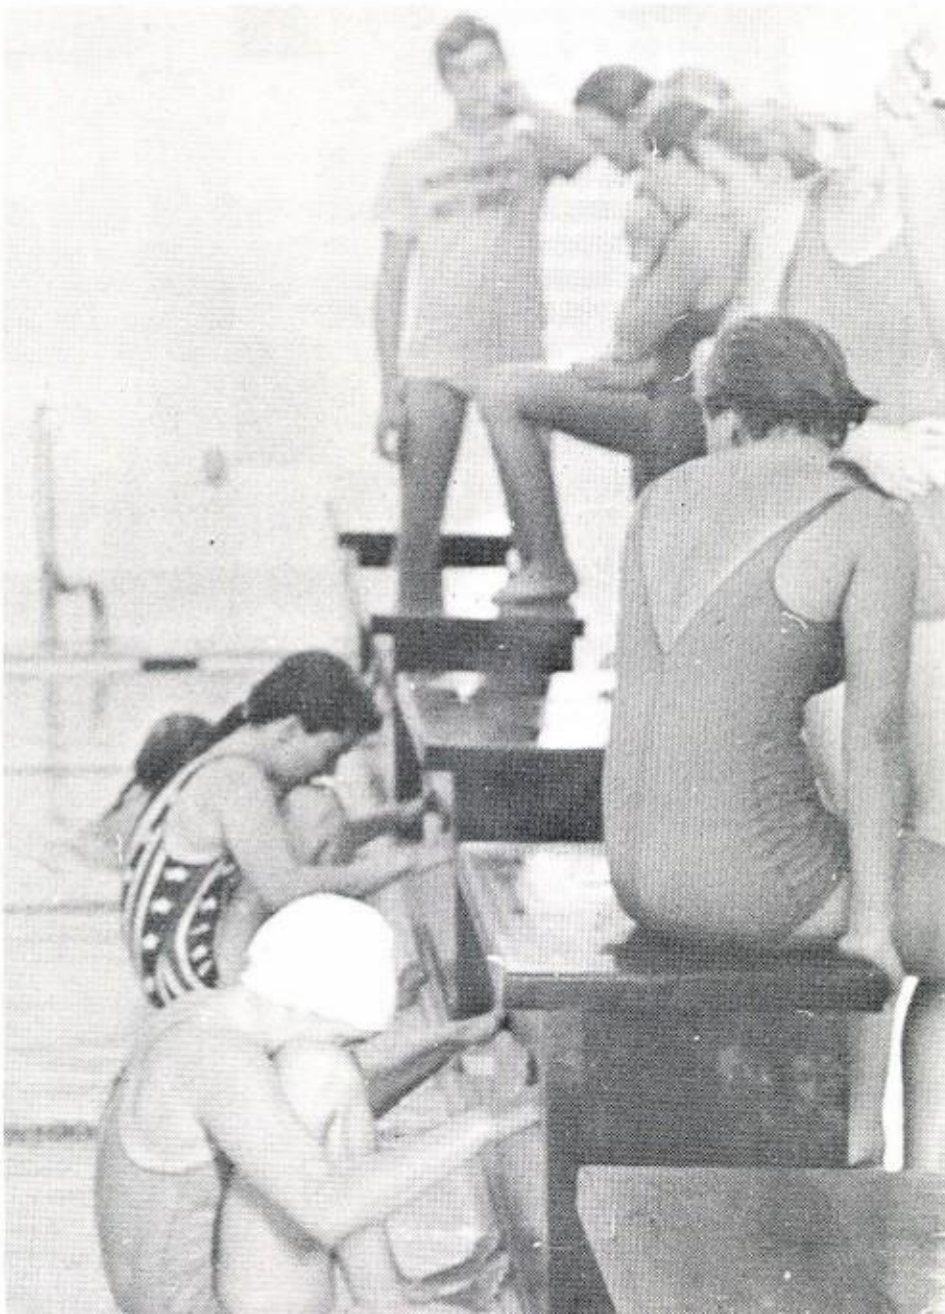

Team members: Jeanine Burns, Cathy Abel, Julie Effrein, Simone Gamache, Lynn Hitner, Ellen Hollander, Jan Keyser, Sally Maher, Patty Neary, Pam Shald, Cassie Strom, Ann Tritz, and Ann Troia.

Golfers swing a winning season

The golf team swept through the season taking first in Invitational Tournaments at Brownell Talbot, Norfolk and Fremont. They placed second in the Duschene Invitational. During the season lasting from September 1 to October 30, they won thirteen matches and lost one. Mrs. Rae Keogh served as coach with Liz Wanek and Teresa Wanek acting as co-captains.

Sharon Slattery swings into action.

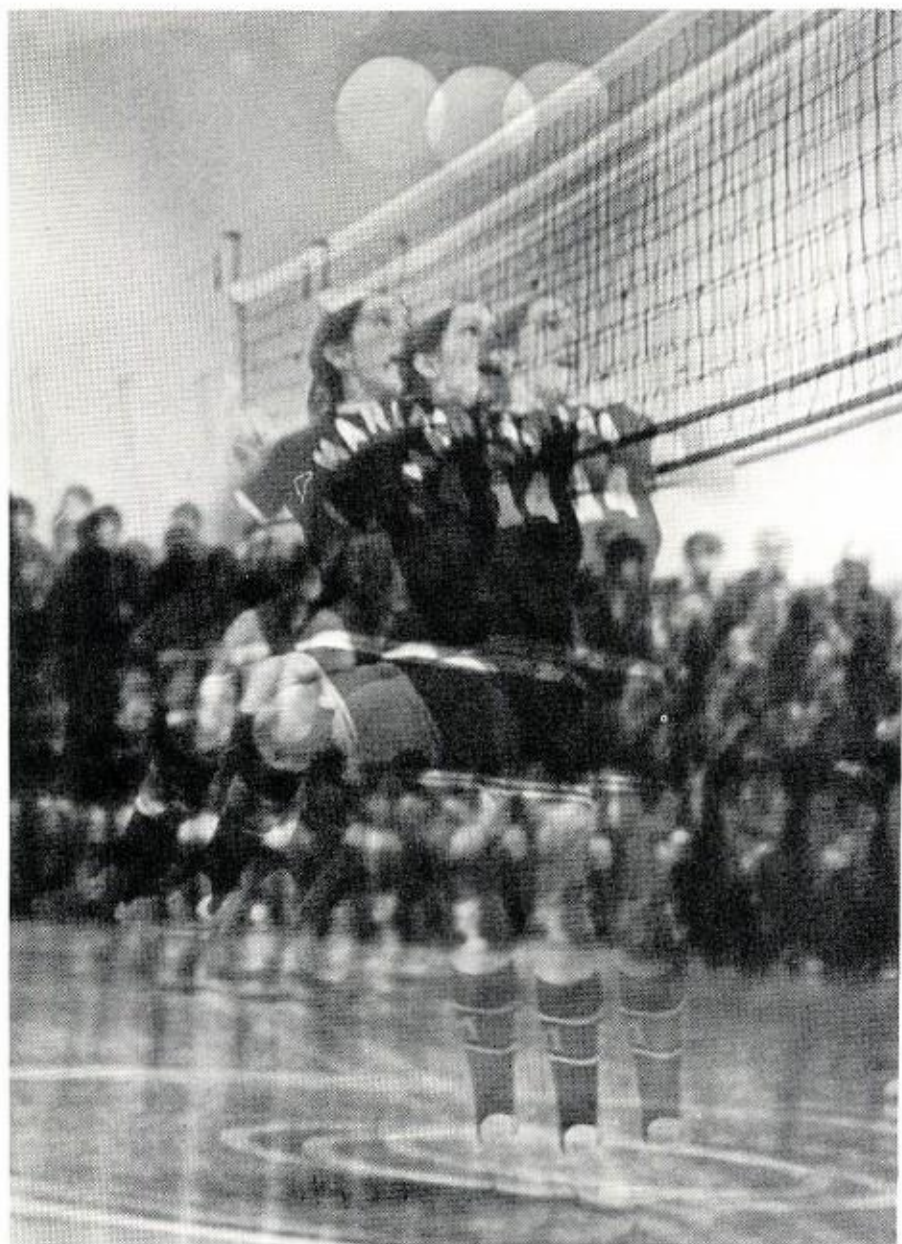

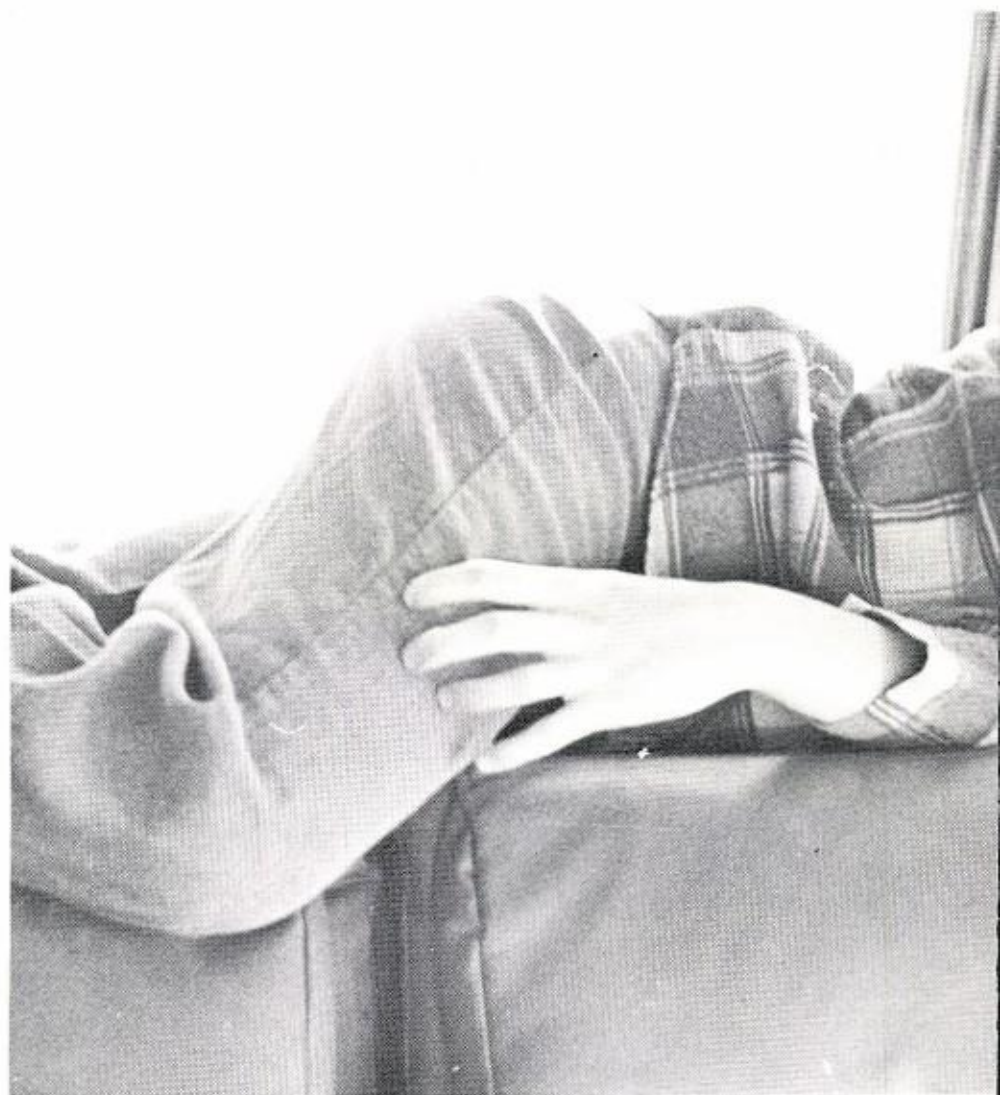

Volleyball players hit a winning streak

Over the past four years, the Marian volleyball team has maintained a record of fifty-one wins to six losses. This outstanding record was kept up this year as the team bumped and spiked their way to the position of Greater Omaha League Champs and also to being District Champs. They traveled to the State Tournament in Scottsbluff, but lost their first game to Fremont, who won the tournament. Kim Rudloff was picked to be an All-Stater. Co-captains of the team were Mary Kay Gaffney and Geri Hewitt. Margaret Cortese served as student manager under coach Bobbie Bartholet.

Varsity members: Gail Catton, Stacey Catton, Terri Dundis, Patti O'Neil, Kim Rudloff, Sally Sharkey, Colette Shelton, Julie Uryasz, Connie Wever and Sue Wilwerding.

Junior Varsity members: Judy Bailey, Sue Banker, Ann Cannon, Carol Gaffney, Judy Landy, Kelly Monahan, Denise Moy, Mary Sue North, Debbie Rerucha, Mary Sova, Karen Willett and Teresa Winkler.

Cheerleaders work with Letter Club

Early in the fall, students tried out in groups and individually for cheerleading. Out of the many that tried out, six were chosen. Their first step in organization was deciding on a uniform which consisted of a royal blue skirt with white insets and royal blue sweaters. Besides cheering for basketball and volleyball games, the cheerleaders planned pep rallies and made signs for the big games. De LeBron served as captain. Other cheerleaders were Teresa Dickenson, Mary Jo Malone, Jo Orsi, Joyce Riedman and Mary Rotella. Miss Cavel acted as their moderator.

Marian's newly founded Letter Club boasted a membership of forty-nine people this year. To belong, one must be a member of a varsity sport. This elite group determined as their goal to try to be of service to the school in a useful, dignified way. This they accomplished by acting as ushers at school functions and helping as timers at debate tournaments. Senior Geri Hewitt served as president; vice-president, Mary Kay Gaffney; secretary, Patty Neary; treasurer, Kim Rudloff. Miss Bartholet was their moderator.

Basketball team excels in tournaments, league

Since two years ago when the State Activities Association recognized girls basketball, Marian has maintained a cumulative record of thirty-three wins and five losses. During the 1973-1974 season, the team went undefeated in the Greater Omaha League competition. Their only loss of the year was to Cathedral during Marian's Second Annual Holiday Basketball Tournament, in which they placed second. The team won first place in the JFK Tournament, with Margaret Cortese, Julie Uryasz and Mary Weishapl making the All-Tournament team. Most Valuable Player went to Kim Rudloff, George Stryker and Sr. Jean Ann Morrow served as coaches. Margaret Cortese was team captain.

Varsity members: Ann Cannon, Geri Hewitt, Peggy Mahoney, Michelle McCarthy, Janie McGowan, Kathy Pink, Kim Rudloff, Noreen Stibbs, Julie Uryasz, Therese Wanek and Mary Weishapl.

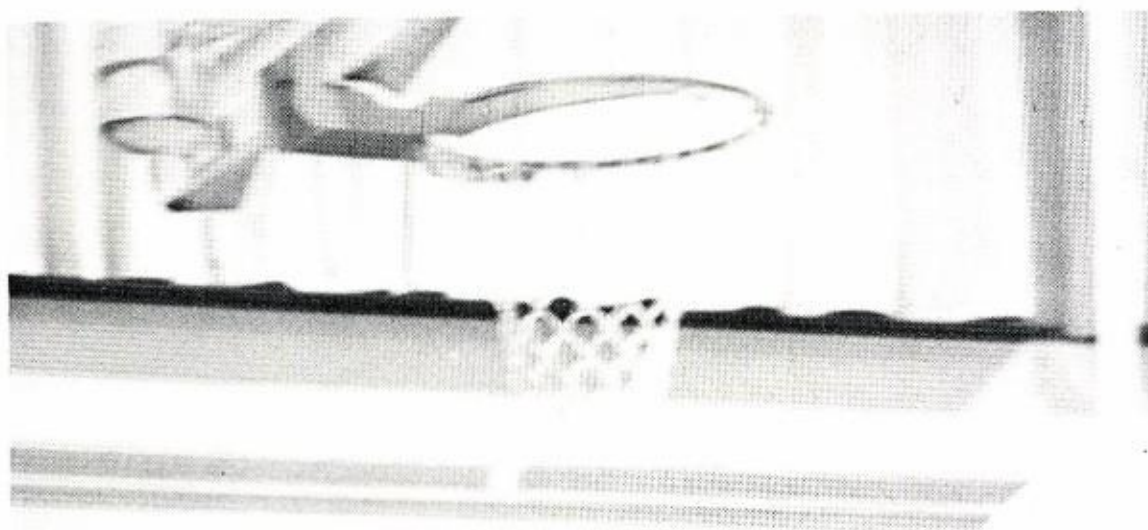

The junior varsity team, coached by Bobbie Bartholet and Jim Duggins, also achieved an undefeated season in Greater Omaha League competition.

Junior Varsity members: Ann Cimpl, Therese Feldhaus, Carol Gaffney, Marg Heaney, Jan Keyser, Lynn Manganaro, Kelly Monahan, Sue Reinders, Sharon Saltery, Mary Versch and Connie Wever.

A variety of activities keeps Drill Team busy

A mother-daughter tea, re-introducing the school song, sucker sales, bake sales, Spirit Week and pep rallies demanded careful planning from the seventeen Drill Team members. Their daily lunch hour practices paid off as they performed at half-time for Creighton University, Marian and Creighton Prep basketball games. Vickie Madden acted as captain; co-captain, Rocky Kruse; secretary, Kathy Nigro; treasurer, Terry Kovarik; historian, Cindi Galvin.

Tennis team battles their way to success

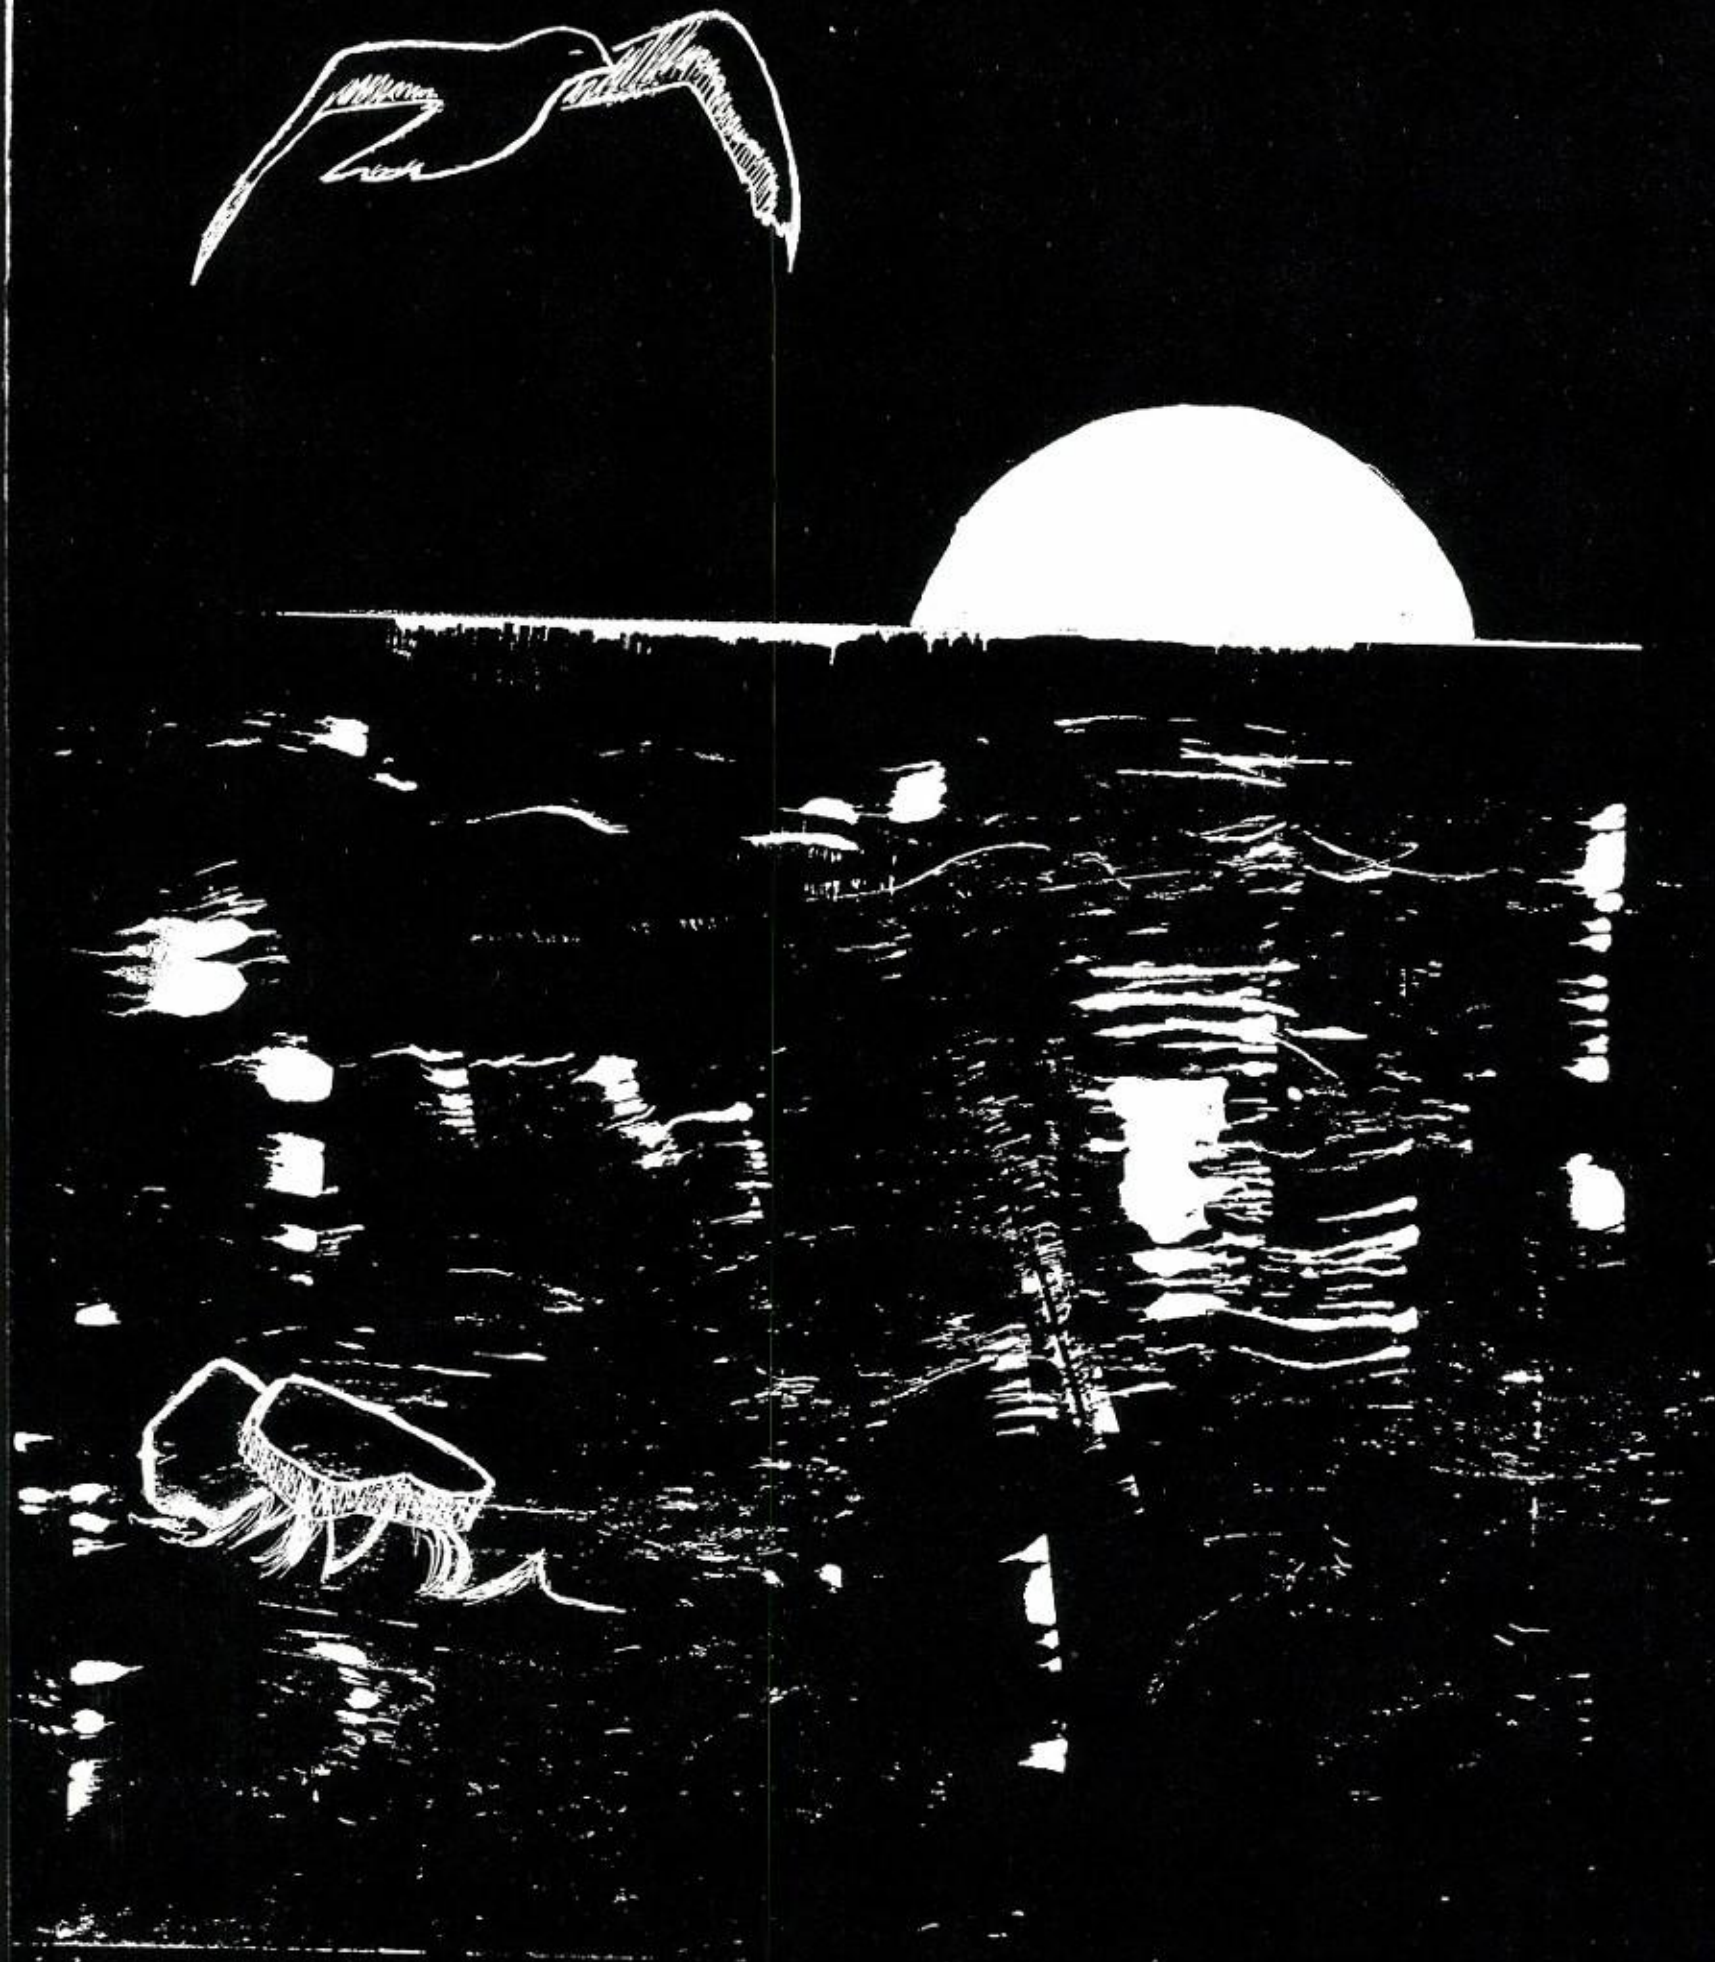

Under the guidance of Mrs. Kelley and Miss Bartholet, the tennis team started off the season with a win in an exhibition game. The fourteen member team practiced every day after school at Fontenelle Tennis Courts during the spring season. They participated in ten matches throughout the season, including the Nebraska Girls Invitational at Dewey Courts which served as a prelude to the State Tournament.

Members of the team: Sally Brown, Meg Gross, Geri Hewitt, Mary Kraemer, Jane Lemmers, Joan Lukas, Michelle McCarthy, Karen Murphy, Sue O'Malley, Mary Owens, Chris Sheehan, and Colette Shelton. Student managers were Sharon Slattery and Connie Wever.

Demonstrating a powerful forehand is Michelle McCarthy.

A circle of unity forms

Unity is exemplified through all school masses, retreats and activities such as big-little sister parties, by eliminating traditional barriers that are necessary in an academic environment. Girls were given the opportunity to share their talents and philosophies with others through weekly guitar masses, confessions, and group discussions. These were conducted by visiting parish priests. Overnight retreats held at Waverly, the O'Donnell Center, Camp Hitchcock and Camp Harriet Harding were another avenue for self discovery. The success of these retreats seemed apparent as they were composed of smaller numbers of people than in previous years.

The new freshmen were quickly initiated into the sphere of school activities at a summertime swimming party held at Brookhill Country Club. This party introduced them to their junior big sisters and several of their prospective teachers. Also, this first get-together as a class acquainted them with the unified spirit these school functions work to maintain.

Leaders plan ambitiously

The seven Sophomore Class officers kept busy with the planning of class functions. Among these was a skating party at Skateland centered around a 50's theme. Their biggest success came in the form of their dance, "Snowball Express," held at Marian on Jan. 26. Sophomore Class president is Julie Waldron; vice-president, Carol Farha; secretary, Ann Peters; treasurer, Mary Sova; representatives, Karen Willett, Kathy Ahern, and Cheryl Incontro.

Prom Announcement, Prom, and Field Day consume most of the Junior Class officers' time. Junior Class president is Ann Haller; vice-president, Meg Gross; treasurer, Mary Pat Cooney; secretary, Patty Neary; representatives, Mary Dunn and Ellen Hollander.

Leadership becomes goal

Decorating halls, the Christmas skit, the Senior Tea, the Senior Mass, Field Day, ordering caps, gowns, graduation announcements. . . all these activities made for very involved Senior Class officers. In addition to all of these typical senior year activities, the seniors launched a ticket selling campaign for the Firehouse Dinner Theatre's production of A FLEA IN HER EAR, in order to make money for the traditional gift to the school. Senior Class president is Ellen Costello; vice president, Joan Sullivan; secretary, Sue Galvin; treasurer, Adrienne Dhaenens; representative, Ann Burns.

The task of uniting the freshmen is always difficult, but the Freshmen Class officers accomplished the feat with relative ease. They sponsored a Marian sockhop in the spring and helped plan Eighth Grade Night. Jane Lemmers is Freshman Class president; vice-president, Ann Fletcher; secretary, Pam Shald; treasurer, Sue Brown; representatives, Gail Ritzdorf, Molly Waring and Sue North.

Board has a fulfilling year

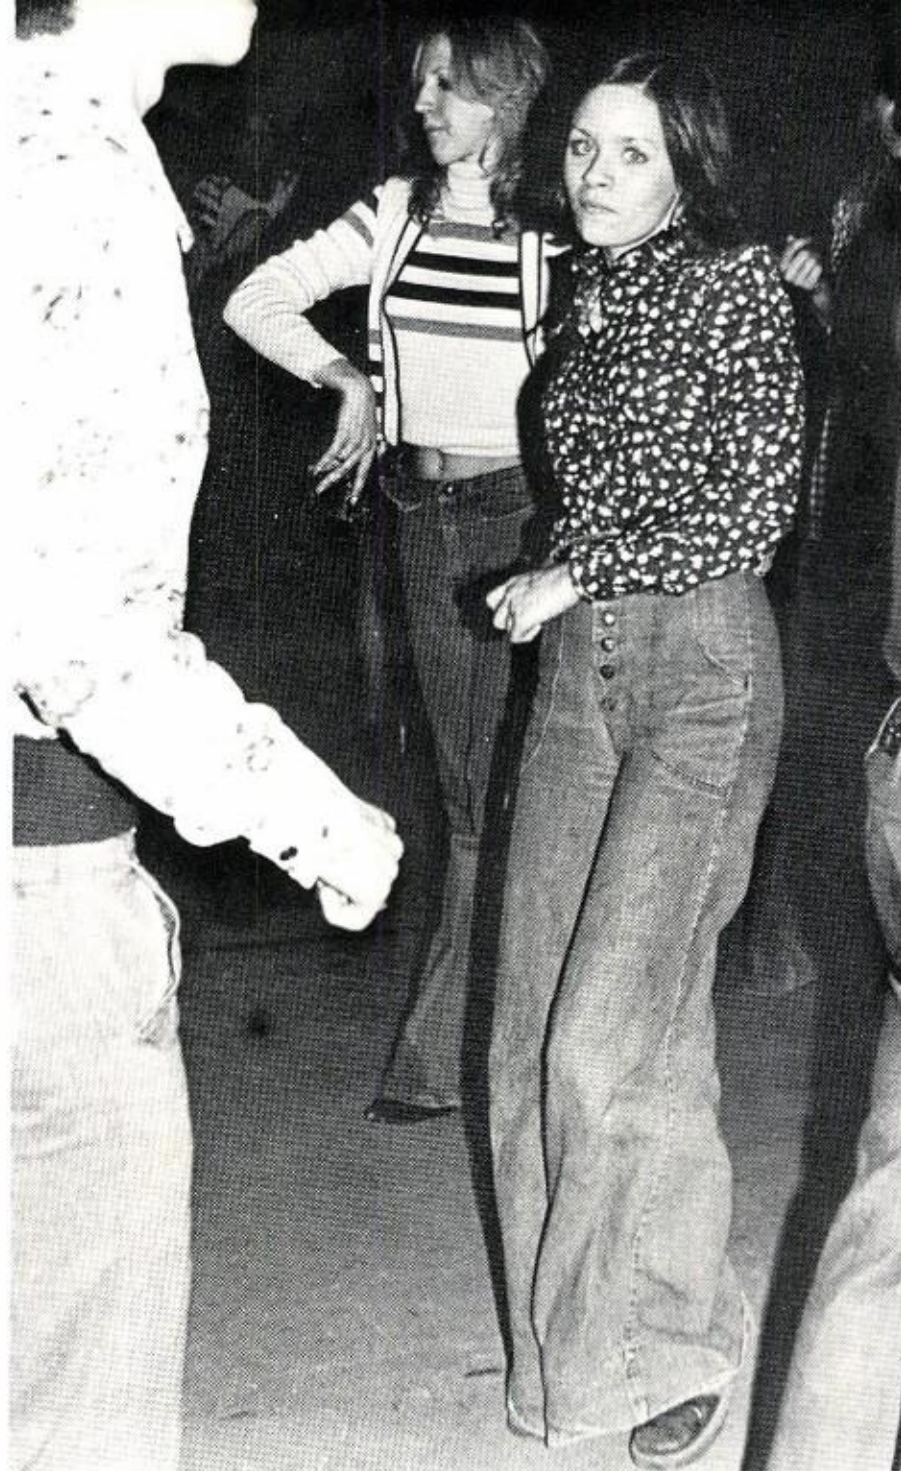

The Student Board holds as its primary objectives, the job of serving as a sounding board between students, parents, faculty and administration, and also, the task of organizing school functions. Their major accomplishments included Field Day, Hillbilly Day, Surprise Day, sockhops and a teacher evaluation designed to give the faculty an idea of the success of their classes in the student's eye. The Student Board is comprised of 13 members including Margaret Cortese, president; Jean Burke, vice-president; and Cassie Strom, secretary.

Other members are Senior, Geri Hewitt; Juniors, Beth Jahn, Marzia Puccioni, and Mary Kay Wingender; Sophomores, Lisa Harless, Maureen Cooney and Marg Heaney; Freshmen, Mary Potter, Rene Gannon and Robin Mangus.

Choir gives performance

The Christmas Festival, the Easter program and the Fine Arts Festival were the major accomplishments of the 35 member Concert Choir this year. In hopes of travelling to Oklahoma to compete in a music contest, the girls sponsored a sockhop, a bake sale and sold candy bars to raise money.

Choir officers are Sheila Murphy, president; Chris Sorenson, vice-president; Genie Poggenpohl, secretary; Debbie Larson, treasurer. Their moderator and director is Sr. Callista.

Drama club entertains

When not providing entertainment in the form of plays, the main objective of the Drama Club is to communicate their efforts and projects to city high schools and the news media. This group also acts in a decision-making capacity concerning dramatic activities. Most cast members in plays are drawn from the Drama Club.

Another branch of the Drama Department that became quite prominent is the Pantomime Troupe. These 20 girls performed 12 shows throughout the year. Their shows centered around the theme of the imagination which lent itself to many humorous mimes. The mime troupe displayed their talents in the unique form of a Pantomime Mass, celebrated with Fr. Loecker. Through the Mass, they illustrated their interpretation of how God shows himself to man through other men.

Cast looks to rainbow

Finian McLonergin came to Rainbow Valley in hopes that by planting a pot of gold, it would multiply. Well, perhaps his gold did not multiply, but the closeness and fellowship of the 50 member cast certainly did. After over a month of seemingly endless rehearsals and building of sets, the efforts of the cast of Finian's Rainbow were rewarded by sellout crowds and standing ovations. One of the unique aspects of the play was the fact that all of the action was confined to the gym floor, thus bringing the actors and actresses closer to the audience. Male leads were played by Rummel seniors Tommy Neuman, Mike McCandless, Mark Delisi, and Mark Murphy. Sophomore Sally Neuman and Senior Michele Procopio received the female leads.

After long hours of research, writing, frustration and practice, the Marian debaters emerged from Room 306 with high hopes of defeating anyone who challenged them concerning the topics of poverty and welfare. Their aspirations were fulfilled as they amassed over 10 trophies in 20 tournaments.

Travelling along the highways with the debaters to tournaments in Kansas City, Des Moines, Fremont and Omaha schools was the Marian Speech Squad. These girls emoted and acted their way to several high ranks during the year's competition.

Seniors yield two queens

The class of 1974 yielded two homecoming queens this year. The candidates for Prep were Sue Grasso and Mary Suddick. On the night of the dance, Nov. 3, Sue and her date, Dan Petersen, reigned as king and queen over the crowd at the Paxton.

It was a "Starry, Starry Night" for Beth Egr and Michelle Procopio on Oct. 27 as Rummel Homecoming candidates. The new royalty, Beth Egr and Pat Bodnar were crowned by last year's queen and king, Reenie McNeil and Ed Burns. The dance was held at Rummel and Grant Street provided the music.

Strangers invade halls

Witches, ghosts, Raggedy Anns, and Richard Nixon invaded the halls of Marian High School on Oct. 31, 1973. Upon closer investigation, these visitors were shown to be only the Senior Class keeping intact the tradition of dressing up for Halloween. The day was made complete by a best costume contest outside during lunch in which members of all four classes picked the winners by the intensity of their applause.

Apostolic groups help young, old

A group of about thirty girls benefited this year from the Senior Citizen's Apostolic Committee under the moderation of Sr. Joan Houtekier. The purpose of the club was to visit old people who often feel so alone and forgotten. This was fulfilled by frequent parties at St. Vincents and Skyline Manor, playing guitars for their Sunday Masses and one-to-one correspondence in their homes.

The Madonna Apostolic Committee dedicated themselves to helping exceptional children at the Madonna School. They spent their time talking, teaching arts and crafts, singing and giving the girls tips on personal grooming. Sr. Midge was their moderator.

Seniors, youngsters benefit from tutoring experience

Sacred Heart grade-schoolers from ages four to thirteen and the Senior Class at Marian benefited from the tutoring program organized this year by Sister Doris Doyle. About thirty seniors throughout the year tutored the youngsters during their free periods, lunch hours and religion classes in subjects ranging from Math to Art. The girls were often in charge of supervising recesses and recreation periods thus giving the teachers a much needed break.

Creativity drawn out by SEMI experience

For the fourth year, Marian students participated in Specialty Education Mini Instruction in lieu of semester exams. These mini-classes allow students to acquire non-academic knowledge in a relaxed atmosphere. There was a total of fifty-six classes to choose from and the most popular proved to be I Ching, Cake Decorating, Ceramics and Hors d'Oeuvres. There were thirteen courses never offered before which taught skills ranging from domestic to professional. Classes were taught by students, parents, teachers and professionals. They were held the week of January 14-17.

Future Business means work now

1973-1974 was a special year for the Future Business Leaders of America. Growing interest increased membership to forty-one. Various activities designed to prepare students for a career in business were conducted. The five student officers attended the Fall Local Officer Workshop in Grand Island, Nebraska on October 1. Eighteen members attended the State FBLA Leadership Conference in Lincoln on March 28, 29 and 30. Marian placed first, second, third and fourth in the Bookkeeping Contest. Adrienne Dhaenens served as Nebraska State FBLA Secretary during the 1973-1974 year. During that time, she travelled all over Nebraska, as well as to Washington, D.C., New York City, Denver and to Wisconsin representing Nebraska State FBLA and Marian High.

FMA, FTA open avenues of growth

The Future Medical Assistants, with Sr. Terese as moderator, strove to educate students about different medical fields open to them. One avenue utilized was speakers on subjects from heart massage to occupational therapy. The Executive Board of FMA organized trips to Creighton's research lab and to J.P. Lord's to observe methods of physical therapy.

Future Teachers of America is open to all girls interested in teaching and serves to acquaint them with different methods of teaching. Members illustrated their belief that 'teachers are people too' by periodically making cookies for the faculty. Club officers include Betty Habler, Sue Bellus and Kathy Hengen. Faculty moderator is Mrs. Gosney.

New Orleans scene for Easter trip

The sky was full of clouds and rain was falling as 86 juniors and seniors boarded a Braniff jet on April 11, headed for New Orleans, Louisiana. Parents and families were on hand at the airport to render last-minute instructions before handing over their daughters to the care of chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schadendorf. From the moment of arrival to the time of departure from New Orleans, activities and fun did not cease. Included in the agenda was a play, THREE ON A HONEYMOON, starring Ann B. Davis, a bus tour of the city, a day at Lake Ponchartrain Amusement Park, a cruise down the Mississippi River on the Mark Twain and nights spent wining and dining in the famous Bourbon Street restaurants in the French Quarters.

Riding Club learns to use horse sense

The Horseback Riding Club, composed of twenty-one members, kept busy throughout the year with planned activities such as a trail ride, club picnics, movies and lectures on methods and styles. Members of the club won many awards in horse shows throughout the year. Club moderator was Mr. Jim Duggins. Composing the club officers were Peggy Ciciulla, president; Patty Melcher, vice-president; Vicky Madden, secretary; Darlene Murrall, treasurer.

Artists add dimension colorful to room

The Art Club designated as their purpose, the task of keeping interested people informed on various forms of art. The group of thirty members participated in such activities as touring museums, visiting art exhibits in local universities and painting their art room in a colorful mural design. Joan Wilwerding served as club president; Denise Ervin, vice-president; Suzanne Thompson, secretary; Kathy Kasel, treasurer. Their moderator was Mrs. McPherson.

French Club tries to bring french alive

To make the study of French more consequential and to expand interests in French culture were goals of the French Club this year. Activities that the thirty members planned included a luncheon at Le Versailles and a multi-lingual Mass celebrated by a priest from Creighton University. They also sponsored a bake sale to finance an International Picnic.

Club officers were president, Kate Griffin; vice-president, Mary Dunn; secretary, Kim Kobza. Mrs. Arnold served as club moderator.

Aesop's Fables a treat for young, old

The spring play took on a new shape this year as the twenty member cast produced AESOP'S FABLES under the direction of Mrs. Pat Culver. The play, which was enjoyable for children from ages 12 to 90 depicted the change of the common fables such as THE HARE AND THE TORTOISE and THE MAID AND THE MILK into comic 'fables.' The morals that the audience received contained precious gems such as "Don't Put Stock In Anything You Buy from the Stork," and "Do Not Let Yourself Be Fooled by False Flattery." A unique aspect of the play was the audience participation that the cast demanded as they danced their way into the hearts of the children and as the wolf used the audience as camouflage as he evaded the hare.

The lead characters were those that appeared constantly in all of the 'fables.' This included Brian Heskens who portrayed the wolf; Beth Jahn, Jack-in-the-Box; Marzia Puccioni, the Sun. Assisting Mrs. Culver in directing were Ky Hutchens, Jean Domalakes, Angie Perotto and Mary Schenkelberg.

Diverse clubs allow individual involvement

The Math Club set out to develop interests in math and fields extending from its study. Their major service to the school was the yearly review held for the PSAT tests. This year Mary Ann Luby and Mary Majorek conducted the reviews in algebra and geometry. Members also participated in a Math Field Day at Creighton University. Club president is Liz Wanek; vice-president, Mary Majorek; secretary, Mary Kay Wingender. Sr. Jean Ann Morrow is club moderator.

Highlights of the Ecology Club's endeavors included a STEP (Students Towards Environment Participation) training program and an ecological seminar conducted at Camp Cedars. Monica Honz was club president.

Journalists struggle to meet deadlines

"Our deadline is tomorrow?!""Good news . . . only 44 more copy blocks to go!" These were typical comments heard echoing through room 304 as the 1974 MARIAN staff struggled to meet deadlines under the guidance of Mrs. Brown. The innovative staff changed the traditional format of yearbooks by placing the student section first, signifying the importance of the individual. Co-editors were Sheila Murphy and Margaret Zarbano.

The LOOKING GLASS staff members were found lurking in the background at all school events gathering information to make their paper an informative, diversified publication. They presented several in-depth articles on world and national problems such as the energy crisis. Mary Suddick served as Managing Editor.

Cowkids round up clues of future prom

"Windmills of My Mind" was the theme presented by the secretive Prom Committee at Prom Announcement on December 6. The Committee, headed by Diane Hungerford, dispelled rumors of a winter prom in a parody of the movie "Cowboys." Clues, some true, some misleading, were tossed to the audience by a glitter clad Mr. Brandon (Ann Longo). Pieced together, the puzzle revealed that "Travis" would play among tulips and daisies in a blue and yellow color scheme. In the final scene, the cowkids introduced their eight duchesses who composed the Prom royalty.

Queen Ellen rules in windmill setting

The metamorphoses from curlers and drab winter uniforms to long flowing curls and dresses was an amazing occurrence to view as the upperclassmen headed to the Hilton Hotel Ballroom for the annual Junior-Senior Prom on March 29. Windmills and daisies set the mood for the crowning of the Queen and King of the Court, Ellen Costello and Dave Wilson. The Duchesses were Jean Burke, Margaret Cortese, Mary Kay Gaffney, Geri Hewitt, Jane McGowan, Lisa Salerno and Joan Sullivan.

hopes and dreams of a young love come true.

Performers present Fine Arts Festival

The Drama, Music, and Art departments merged in the early spring to create the Fine Arts Festival, providing a weekend of entertainment for families, students, and friends. Talent was displayed by Mrs. Culver's drama students in the forms of one-act plays, pantomime and dramatic interpretations, while the Concert Choir performed under the direction of Sister Callista. Mrs. McPherson's art students received the opportunity to display the fruits of their efforts in media from clay to wood carvings to oil paintings.

Mass exodus results in mass punishment

A group of 140 very suspicious looking seniors performed a mass exodus from the school grounds after being bitten by the spring fever bug. The lakes at Fremont, picnics at Elmwood, lunch at the French Cafe, and for one carful, a ditch, provided recreation for their illegal holiday. Upon returning to school the following Monday, the seniors were greeted with a loss of their privileges, ressurecting nostalgic memories of study halls and lavatory passes. After a week of confinement, rights were restored by an understanding administration, making the seniors' last two weeks at Marian High very happy and unified.

Latin scholars feast at annual banquet

The Junior Classical League tasted the nectar of success at the Latin Contest held at Burke High School in the early spring. Mary Weisbecker captured second in vocabulary along with Pam Giroux who received second in the grammar division. Another highlight of the year was their annual banquet where sophomore latin students became slaves for the feast for their initiation into the club. Clad in togas and chains, the girls served the meal and remained at the beck and call of all JCL members.

Social Studies Club has good beginnings

The Social Studies Club, with Mr. Michael Schadendorf as its moderator, made its beginnings this year. The group, composed of over fifty members, decided that the purpose of the club was to stimulate interest in Social Studies and to broaden experiences in that area. For their first project, they sold over 1,000 postcards to build a budget to work from. A project for Disabled American Veterans followed. The climax of the year was a trip to Kearney, Nebraska for an International Affairs Conference, a discussion of world problems. The group of forty girls listened to speakers and panels of world wide representatives. For the future, the club plans more trips, discussion groups and the election of officers.

Chickens prove to be 'eggs-traordinary'

The Senior Class of 1974 pecked and clucked their way to first place at Field Day this year for their first victory in four years. Capturing first in demonstration, theme, float, cheerleaders and unity paved their path to triumph. The Senior Chickens, clad in feathers, claws and yellow smocks and short pants, portrayed a chicken liberation through their demonstration freeing hens forever from the treacherous claws of slave-driving roosters. The seniors enjoyed chicken from Chicken Delight for their lunch under the watchful eye of their twenty-foot high chicken mascot, also compliments of Chicken Delight. A loss of the softball game to the juniors served only to heighten the unity of the class as they waited in anticipation for the announcement of winners.

Junior Cupids defeat seniors in softball game

The Junior Cupids gave their hearts away to achieve an overall second place at Field Day this year. Winning the softball game against the senior class sent their hearts soaring high as the day came to the peak of excitement. Second place in demonstration was earned by the red-smocked and bow and arrow bearing class as they rock and rolled their way through several heart formations, sprinkling silver glitter over the field and the audience. The cheerleaders, dressed in shiny, red satin costumes led the class in high-spirited songs and cheers.

With a stroke of luck, Sophs win Field Events

The other three classes sat back and took notice of the Lucky Sophomore Ladybugs as they calmly flew into first place in Field Events at Field Day. Dressed in black jump suits adorned with orange and black spotted wings, the sophomores 'polka-ed' their way into their demonstration formations of a lucky horse shoe and a four-leaf clover. But sometime during the day, their luck failed them, as at the final announcement of winners, the sophomores accepted an overall third place in Field Day competition.

Pigs gain beneficial experience for future

The Freshman Class of 1977 received their initiation into the hectic world of Field Day season this year. This new experience proved to be not the least bit disconcerting for the Freshman Pigs as they built the second place float consisting of a house with three little pigs peeking out the window. Wearing multi-colored jumpsuits and snouts, the frosh proceeded to relate the tale of the Three Little Pigs in their demonstration, 'out-foxing' the sophomore, junior and senior wolves. Although they gained an overall fourth place for the day, they received useful knowledge and experience which will undoubtedly bring them to future victories.

Earned recognition given to scholars

Honors Day, May 22, served as an opportunity to reward the hard work and dedication of several Marian students. Receiving special recognition were Sue Galvin, World Herald Scholarship; Mary Suddick, Key Staffer Award; Ellen Costello, Brandeis Watch; Robin Mangus, Mother Loyola Scholarship; Debby Goodman, Marian Alumnae Association Scholarship.

Following these presentations, Mary Ann Luby, NHS president, assisted Sister Adolorata in awarding certificates of merit to outstanding students in individual courses. Scholarships won by members of the senior class were also announced. The climax of the assembly came with the announcement of Marian Girl of the Year, Geri Hewitt. This is the highest honor a graduating senior can receive from the school and is based on leadership, scholarship and service to the school.

Juniors recipients of symbolic torches

The torch of leadership was passed on to the Junior Class by the seniors at the annual Torch Night Ceremony held on May 22, 1974. Margaret Cortese, 1973 Spirit of Marian, passed her title on to Diane Hungerford, who was chosen by her class as their member who best exemplifies the qualities of a Marian girl. Other highlights of the evening included addresses to the seniors by Valedictorian, Liz Wanek and Salutatorian, Mary Ann Luby, and a movie of memories of the past four years created and presented by Tammy Edgerton and Rachael Heaney.

Abundant activities keep NHS occupied

Eighth Grade Night, aid in preparation for Semi-week, the National Honor Society induction ceremony and the banquet after Honors Day at the Hilltop House required time and planning for officers of the National Honor Society. At the induction ceremony held in February, Mary Ann Luby, president of Marian's chapter, explained the four qualities required of NHS members . . . scholarship, leadership, character and service. Sister Adolorata then presented the new sophomore, junior and senior members. Coffee and donuts were served in the cafeteria following the ceremony for the members, their parents and the faculty. Mrs. Deanie Sullivan worked as club moderator with officers Mary Ann Luby, president; Mary Russell, vice-president; Denise Muff, secretary; and Cassie Strom, treasurer.

Karen Willett is inducted as a provisional member.

Commencement Exercises for the Class of 1974 were held at the Omaha Civic Auditorium Music Hall on May twenty-third. Mary Ann Luby acted as the Mistress of Ceremonies, opening the evening with an introduction of Sheila Murphy who sang a solo of the National Anthem. Father James Cain led the invocation, followed by the graduation address from Marian Girl of the Year, Geralyn Hewitt. Guest speaker for the ceremony was Reverend Carl Reinert, S.J., who explained how understanding of the roles of each generation is necessary for a peaceful, full existence. The Girls Choral Ensemble, directed by Sister Callista, presented several arrangements between speakers. The event was climaxed by the conferment of diplomas by Sister Adolorata and Mr. Ralph Juliano, the moment the 147 graduating seniors had long awaited. The conclusion consisted of the seniors singing the song they had chosen to represent the emotions felt for those with whom they had grown and lived for four years.

"To each his own, it's plain to see,
To walk alone, you have to be.
It's all for you and all for me
You'll see . . .

I'm gonna miss you, yes I will
No matter who you are, I'll love you still
For my life is my conscience, the seeds I sow
I just wanted to let you know . . ."

Sr. Adolorata congratulates Kathy Kasel.
